38 Perish In Flames Of Dutch Plane; 2 Safe

PRESTWICK, Scotland (CP) — Thirty-eight persons perished today when a fog-blinded Royal Dutch Airlines (K.L.M.) Constellation plane struck a high-tension wire, burst into flames and crashed into a pasture.

Among those killed was the plane's co-pilot, Kevin J. O'Brien, reported to be a Canadian.

Six persons were taken from the wreckage alive, but four died in hospitals later.

WITH FERRY COMMAND

O'Brien, 39, a native of Dublin, was carrying a Canadian passport, K.L.M. officials said. He had lived in Montreal during the war while he served as a member of the R.A.F. Ferry Command.

(In Montreal, friends said the widow and a young daughter live somewhere in Eire.)

Also killed was Gen. Jacobus M. A. Gysbertus Sas, who commanded Netherlands troops training in Canada from 1940 to 1942.

The huge, four-engine plane, en route from Amsterdam to New York, burst into flames after striking a high-tension wire about 10 miles from the field after a landing attempt in mist.

PILOT WELL KNOWN

The plane, named the Nijmegen, was commanded by Koene D. Parmentier, chief pilot of the airline and one of the Netherlands' most famous fliers. He was runner-up in the London-Melbourne air race in 1934. He was among those reported killed.

Southern Korea Rebellion Doomed To Fail, Says Govt.

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Korean army units closed in on insurgents in the southern mountains tonight, and a high source predicted a quick end to the revolt.

Within 48 hours, the government source predicted, 300 rebels in the mountains will be captured. In four days or less, the cities of Yosu, southern springboard of the insurrection, and Suncheon, will be retaken by the government, he said.

The cabinet of President Syngman Rhee, in a four-hour session, lifted martial law in all of the republic except northern and southern Cholla provinces.

A United States offer of additional material was rejected by the cabinet, the government source said, on the grounds the situation is under control.

No Beef Contract

OTTAWA (CP) — Government sources said today they did not think the United Kingdom would sign a contract for the purchase of Canadian beef through 1949. They recalled the 1948 contract was cancelled by Britain several months ago as a dollar-conservation measure.

Irish Sweepstake Prizes Drawn; Total Much Less

DUBLIN (CP) — The steel drums of fortune began spinning early today for millions of ticket-holders, some of them Canadians, in the final Irish Sweepstakes draw of 1948, but the total prize money is likely to be the smallest since the war.

The draw is for the rich Cambridgeshire, to be run at Newmarket, Eng., Oct. 27. Lucky ticket-holders will have to wait until then to find out how much they've won. But holders of certain secondary tickets will know at once.

Officials have declined to give a clue to the sum available for prize distribution. Ticket sales slumped in Britain, Canada and

Quadruplets Born In Edmonton, Eng.

Doctors said the mother's condition was satisfactory and the quads had a good chance to live. The Taylors have two other sons, five and seven.

Looks Into Potential Threats To Alaska

SEATTLE (AP) — A decision to fly to Alaska to investigate its "potential threats" first-hand was announced today by Rep. Henry Jackson (D-Wash.).

He said he will report his findings to two committees of which he is a member: The House appropriations committee and the interim department subcommittee in control of Alaska funds.

Jackson's announcement followed conferences here with E. L. Bartlett, Alaska delegate in Congress.

"We charged our military forces with protecting us not only against possibilities but against possibilities — and Alaska today is full of potential threats," Jackson said.

The United States because it is virtually impossible for prize-winners to get their winnings out of Eire. The Eire government permits persons leaving the country to take only £35 (£140) with them.

Apart from the difficulties of selling 10-shilling ($2) tickets in North America, there is the problem of how to pay the prizes. These can only be paid in sterling, which is all right for the winners of the big prizes who can afford to come to Eire to cash in, but it is just a headache for the winners of the smaller awards which are not big enough to provide the incentive of a trans-Atlantic trip.

Oil Strikers Offer To Accept Terms For California Field

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An offer by C.I.O. oil workers to end the 48-day old strike against six major refineries in California went before the Texas Company today.

The proposal, received without comment by the Standard Oil Company, was taken into a Los Angeles meeting.

It would accept the companies' offer of a 12½-cent an hour wage increase (the union wanted 22½ when the strike opened and later came down to 17½) and reinstate the pre-strike working agreement with a few changes, said A. R. Kinstley, union vice-president. The old base wage was $1.68.

Await Health Report On Manitoba D.P.'s

WINNIPEG (CP) — A provincial report concerning an investigation into alleged unsatisfactory conditions in displaced persons' camps in Manitoba will be released Friday, Agriculture Minister D. L. Campbell said today.

Health Department officials Tuesday inspected the Emerson D.P. camp. The Health Department's report will be consolidated with that of Agriculture Department officials.

Another report, made by investigators for the federal Labor Department, is in the hands of Arthur McNamara, federal Deputy Labor Minister. Unconfirmed reports here said the latter findings are not entirely favorable to existing camp conditions. The provincial report, on the other hand, is expected to give the camp a clean bill of health, with only a few minor changes suggested.

Kept Prisoner By Uncle, Aunt, Says Toronto Boy Of 14

TORONTO (CP) — Police said today that an emaciated boy, found Wednesday night scratching at the door of a west-end home, begging for food, told them he had been kept in a clothes closet and fed on bread and water for a year in a suburban Mount Dennis home.

The boy identified himself as Gordon Kelly, 14, and said he had been kept prisoner by an elderly aunt and uncle in Mount Dennis. He said as far as he could recall his parents had died about four years ago. He could not recall his relatives' address.

He said he was forced to do heavy household work each day and "almost every day" was beaten by his aunt and uncle. His back was bruised and scratched, court officials said. The boy was removed to the Toronto Psychiatric Hospital for examination.

Britain, U.S., France Accept New Formula On Berlin Question

PARIS (CP) — Britain, the United States and France have agreed to accept the new formula for the Berlin dispute to be presented to the United Nations' Security Council tomorrow, an authoritative source said tonight.

The plan was prepared by the six-country "neutral" group of the council.

Sir Alexander Cadogan of Britain, Philip Jessup, of the United States and Alexandre Parodi of France, met this evening with a copy of the draft resolution before them.

A French spokesman said that, apart from possible minor changes in wording, the basic points in the resolution had the approval of all three western powers.

There is no indication whatever in western circles on the attitude which Andrei Y. Vishinsky, chief Soviet delegate, will adopt towards the present draft, though it is known that he agreed this morning to submit it to Moscow.

A Soviet spokesman qualified earlier reports that Vishinsky had given his "personal approval" of the text as "absolute nonsense."

Mexico Urges Settlement

While the Security Council's six "neutrals," including Canada, polished their new formula for settling the Berlin crisis, the Big Five announced support of a Mexican resolution appealing to them to settle their differences.

Russia and France supported the idea conditionally; Britain,

United States and China made no reservations at the beginning of the debate in the 58-member political committee.

John Foster Dulles of the United States, in his first speech at this U.N. session, pledged "renewed efforts" to reach agreement with the other big powers.

King George Visits Ailing Premier

LONDON (CP) — The King today visited Prime Minister King in his hotel suite, where he is confined to bed by doctor's orders.

His Majesty made a special visit to the Canadian leader, suffering from an ailment of the blood circulation.

The Prime Minister was to have paid a personal visit to Buckingham Palace Oct. 11, opening day of the Commonwealth prime ministers' meeting. He also missed the reception given by His Majesty for the ministers last week.

The Dominion leader rested comfortably Wednesday night and continued to show improvement, his staff reported today.

Indications Five Aldermen To Seek Re-Election Dec. 9

There are indications that all five members of the City Council whose terms of office expire this year will seek re-election at the municipal elections Dec. 9.

There are strong rumors circulating also that they will have stiff opposition from outside candidates with the retiring mayor's secretary, John Baxter, topping the list.

Mr. Baxter won't talk. "I may have something to say a little later," was the way he answered a reporter's questions regarding the rumors that he will campaign for a seat on the council.

SERVED SEVEN MAYORS

The popular secretary who has served seven mayors since January, 1922, is retiring at the end of the month. The mayors to whom he has been secretary include the late William P. Marchant, Reg. Hayward, J. Carl Pendrey, Herbert Anson, the late David Leeming, the late Andrew McGavin and the present mayor, Percy George.

Aldermen whose terms of office are expiring said today it is too early yet to make any definite announcement of their plans.

It has been rumored that Ald. F. N. Cabellu has been considering dropping from public office and that strong representations are being made to have him change his decision.

He told a reporter: "I am undecided. I'd rather not make any announcement at this time."

Ald. J. D. Hunter said he was undecided, too, but it is understood he is anxious to see through the street rebuilding project he started as public works committee chairman this year, and will seek re-election.

Ald. Duncan McTavish is not certain as to whether he will ask the voters to return him to office for his 11th consecutive year.

Ald. Harold M. Diggon expects to be in a position to say in a week or two whether he will run for office again.

FEEL THEY ARE 'UNDER FIRE'

Many of the aldermen feel that they are "under fire" over the Memorial Arena question and although none of those whose terms of office are up are members of the arena committee (other than Ald. McTavish who a short time ago was appointed an acting member in the absence of Ald. Ed Williams) and it might not "look right" to retire now.

One alderman said he felt the citizens are blaming the whole of the City Council for the arena mix-up and it was for this reason alone that he thought he would run for office again.

"I don't want to be called a quitter," he said.

Ald. Cabellu has been on the council two years. He was elected in 1946. He headed the poll.

Ald. Diggon has been an alderman four years. Ald. McTavish has been on the council since 1939. Ald. Mulliner was elected to the council in 1945 and has been a member since. He was a school trustee prior to that. Ald. Hunter has been an alderman nine years. He was first elected in 1933 and served until 1938. He returned in 1945 and has been on the council since.

Britain Wants B.C. Salmon, But Has No Dollars Available

LONDON (CP) — Food Minister John Strachey told a press conference today Britain would like to buy more Canadian canned fish, but saw little prospect this country will be able to afford it.

He said the present shortages of canned fish in Britain were due to the delayed result of reduction in dollar purchases in Canada and the United States decided on last year.

Britain planned to buy more canned snook in South Africa and other fish from Turkey and Yugoslavia, he said.

Asked by the Canadian Press if there was a possibility the country would buy more Canadian fish, Strachey replied:

"I think there is little hope of obtaining it when I look at the Anglo-Canadian balance-of-trade figures. . . .

"If some way could be devised that we had not to produce dollars for it, there is nothing we would rather have than some British Columbia salmon."

Why Sentence Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Lucius Clay said today he cut the life sentence of Ilse Koch to four years' imprisonment because the trial record did not warrant a life sentence. He said the cut was not an act of clemency or generosity.

Ten Mines Flood, One Set Afire As Contest Goes On

PARIS (AP) — A force of 1,000 striking coal miners beat back police and were reported to have wounded 30 of them in a 15-minute battle today for the Rickard mine near La Grandcombe, in south-central France.

Ten of the injured police were in a serious condition, Agence France-Presse said. One miner was wounded. All were taken to the mine hospital.

The interior ministry charged that 10 French coal mines have been flooded and one set afire through the neglect of strikers.

The strike began Oct. 4. Violence flared this week when Communist union leaders ordered maintenance crews to abandon mine pumps and ventilators.

The ministry announced that police were sent by air to help clear pickets from the mines. The airborne police alone, the ministry said, have managed to save from flooding mine shafts with a capacity of 1,200 tons a day.

An official spokesman refused details about the number of police sent by air to the trouble spots. The pro-Communist newspaper Ce Soir said 26 planes carried 500 police to St. Etienne, where new violence was said to have erupted. Another 60 planes with troops arrived at Lyon, the newspaper said. The spokesman said these figures were "suspect."

Scrap Iron, Stones Hurlled

In the fighting near La Grandcombe the miners hurled scrap iron, sticks and stones. The police dislodged the pickets at dawn.

At noon the strikers returned with reinforcements and set upon the police, who had dug in around the pithead. Tear gas grenades used by the police proved ineffective. The strikers captured and held some of their opponents while the rest of the police retreated.

The flooded mines are in central and south-central France. In the north, where two-thirds of the country's coal is found, the mines are dry. But there the neglect of mine security services has created the danger of coal-damp explosions.

The striking Confederation General du Travail claims to represent 80 per cent of France's 335,000 miners. It is demanding the government withdraw a decree to fire 10 per cent of the mines' surface workers as an economy measure. It also wants the minimum wage lifted to 15,000 francs ($50) a month. Thus far the strike has cost France more than 2,500,000 tons of coal.

Trafalgar Day Show

LONDON (CP) — Trafalgar Day today gave London its biggest naval show since the First World War. In historic Trafalgar Square, the Duke of Gloucester, on behalf of the King, unveiled two bronze memorial busts of admirals of the fleet Jellicoe and Beatty.

Present at the ceremony were Premier and Mrs. Byron Johnson of British Columbia.

Rushes Time Clock, Makes 8,000 Idle

DETROIT (AP) — One man's rush for the time clock was blamed today by Chrysler Corporation for the layoff of 8,000 employees in its Dodge main plant.

A company spokesman gave the following account:

Wednesday an employee started a rush for the time clock at the quitting hour. This is in violation of a company rule, laid down when an employee was injured in a similar rush some time ago.

The offender was given a one-day disciplinary layoff.

Today 24 fellow-employees in the trim department quit work in protest against the disciplining.

The company said it had been forced to halt final assembly of Dodge cars and send home 8,000 of the plants 24,000 employees as a result.

Israelis Capture Beersheba In Spite Of Truce Proposal

TEL AVIV (AP) — Beersheba, mother city of the Arab race, was occupied today by Israeli forces after a bitter battle, a Jewish army spokesman announced.

The battle raged on even after Israel's cabinet had notified the United Nations it is prepared to accept a truce in the Negev desert area of southern Palestine. Previously the U.N. had given assurance that Egypt also wants the truce.

Global Air Force Of U.S. Extended To Include Africa

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States' Global Air Force, already operating in Europe and the Far East, is adding another continent to its training ground — Africa.

B-29 Superfortresses taking off from American-used bases in England and Germany now are winging down to Accra, a British colony on the Gold Coast of Africa.

The airfield there was built by Britain, primarily for commercial operation. But with the United States' entry into the Second World War, the Air Transport Command developed the base as one unit in the ferry route to the Middle East and Southeast Asia.

Air force headquarters said today there is no United States military installation at Accra now. The Superforts use facilities there for refuelling on their training excursions down to the Gulf of Guinea, then turn around and head back.

The new training operation began about a week ago.

Ex-Mayor Jailed

PEIPING (AP) — Hsu Hsiu-chih, who was mayor of Peiping during the Japanese occupation, was sentenced to life imprisonment today on conviction of collaborating with the enemy.

The government did not reach agreement on fixing the hour at which troops would stop fighting in the battle for the Negev desert.

An Israeli spokesman indicated that Gaza, capital of the Palestine government proclaimed by the Arabs, is among the goals of the southern Israeli offensive. Egyptian planes bombed the Tel Aviv area today, only a few hours after Israel's decision on the cease-fire.

Reed Farm Raid Puts Me Back In Soviet Hands

By
Oksana S. Kasenkina
(Edited by ISAAC DON LEVINE and Copyright, 1948, by King Features Syndicate Inc.)

I DID NOT dream that my letter to the Soviet consul general would result in a raid on the Tolstoy Foundation farm to get me, and would bring Ambassador Panyushkin to New York, to take charge of my case, leading to an international incident.

I was in a panic when I had penned that fateful letter to the consul, after contemplating my position. My failure to sail on the Pobeda was tantamount to treason, a capital crime in Soviet Russia. Most of my possessions had been shipped home, my savings were nearly gone, I had no American friends. And my shelter among the Russian refugees was collapsing about me.

These were the circumstances under which I wrote the controversial letter to the consulate. I followed the approved Soviet pattern for transgressors, made familiar by the confessions in the great purge, of paying homage to the regime and its representatives. I knew that this was the only way to save my life if I were to be returned to Russia.

I wrote that what happened had to be, that I loved my country and my people, that I was not a traitor, and that I had always hated traitors. I emphasized that I had committed no crime against the government and that I had remained loyal to it while living under capitalism abroad.

I recalled the fact that my father was a workman, and that I had never acted against the regime and the dictatorship of the proletariat. To open a door back home, I felt that I could not omit a profession of loyalty to the dictatorship.

Campaign Against Me

I WENT ON to describe the campaign of ostracism against me, how I had been persecuted, how my pupils were incited against me, how I was labeled before them as a thief, all the indignities that had been heaped upon me in the school, and the fears I felt over my missing son. It had been hinted to me that I would lose my position as a teacher in Russia, I complained, but the consul would not even receive me.

After doing obeisance to the consul general as the representative of my government, I closed with the statement that my will had been broken and with the plea not to let me perish.

I thought that I would strike a human chord in the consular officials who had once valued me as an able teacher, and that my letter would serve as a bridge to my country. It was a foolish notion which in my suicidal mood did not seem so unreal. All that I expected from my letter was a reply by mail.

The following day I telephoned Mr. Zenzinov and arranged to meet him on Sunday. I intended to pour out my heart to him and seek his advice, although I realized that his material condition would not allow him to be of much help to me in the event I changed my residence. Yet I was making plans in that direction.

But fate willed otherwise. Early Saturday afternoon, while I was in the kitchen shelling eggs, I was dumbfounded to find Consul Lomakin, Vice Consul Chepurikh and Anastasia Trofimova, Chief Clerk of the Consulate appear at my side. The blood drained out of me.

"We have the police with us!" he announced, as he addressed me warmly. "Dear Oksana Stepanovna, I got your letter. Come, come with us quick."

'Don't Go,' Said Countess

WHEN I CLIMBED up the stairs to the porch to get my things, Countess Tolstoy attempted to prevent the raiders from entering. "Don't go. They'll shoot you!" she cried in distress, trying to hold me back.

"If they shoot me, it may be the best end for me," I replied. Lomakin had indicated to me that there was another car in his party, bringing the police along. There was nothing for me to do but to pack my grip and fetch my briefcase upstairs. I had time to destroy an article I had written for the anti-Communist Russian newspaper. There was no struggle over me and no battle, such as Consul Lomakin was reported to have mentioned to the press. The pleas of Countess Tolstoy and Mrs. Knutson did arouse some disturbance among the inmates, of whom there were few able-bodied men.

When I was escorted to the consul's car and put next to the fat Semashko, the chauffeur at the wheel, some threats were hurled at the raiders. A couple of stones were thrown after the automobile as it sped away, but without causing any damage.

The consulate's station wagon, I learned from the conversation, with a group of additional men, had apparently fallen behind. On the way back to New York I was asked no questions. Chepurikh was boasting how he got into the house without his identity being suspected.

"I wasn't taking any chances of having my neck wrung," he laughed, "so I announced myself as Samarin, saying that I came with some friends to call on Countess Tolstoy." There was an outburst of hilarity at Chepurikh's clever trick.

Successful Ruse

THAT the impersonation worked did not surprise me, as Chepurikh could be taken for my colleague Samarin. Both are strapping blond men. It was clear, however, that the Soviet officials expected real resistance, and they were pleased at the success of the ruse and the ease with which they had carried off their quarry.

Only later, when I was already at the consulate, did I learn that instead of having the police on their side, the station wagon with the Soviet officials had been stopped by the police after Countess Tolstoy had sounded an alarm over my seizure. Upon inspection of the consular papers, the car and its occupants were permitted to proceed.

Although it may not be correct to describe my seizure as an abduction, I know that I would not have chosen the Soviet consulate as my abode of my own free will. In the circumstances, there was no choice for me but to make the best of a precarious situation. It seemed to me that my salvation lay in not resisting Lomakin's party.

In less than an hour we were at the Soviet consulate, Seven East 61st Street, off Fifth Avenue. How great was my surprise when I was led upstairs and ushered into the presence of Ambassador Panyushkin himself. He had obviously been waiting for his boys to bring the catch home. It was a portent of things to come.

Tomorrow: Groomed to Tell Pack of Lies.

Outstanding Scientists Work In Interest Of Canada's Fishermen

ST. ANDREWS, N.B. (CP)—The Fisheries Research Board of Canada maintains biological stations at St. Andrews, Winnipeg and Nanaimo, and in the station here some of Canada's outstanding scientists are working to improve conditions for fishermen in the Maritime provinces, Quebec and Newfoundland.

In a general sense, the station's main function is to ascertain how fisheries resources may be conserved and increased, and to devise more efficient fishing methods. The scientists, for example, keep a close check on the lobster population to aid in the fixing of lobster fishing seasons.

Dates of the seasons vary according to the supply in the different districts. Strict regulations prevent the lobster resources from being wiped out. One staff here annually tags 10,000 to 15,000 lobsters and releases them in the various commercial areas. The percentage of the tagged crustaceans subsequently recaptured by fishermen indicates the amount of depletion. Recoveries have ranged up to 80 per cent in a season.

With some fish, including cod, the problem is how more can be caught in a shorter time, so new ways of fishing are being tried. These include long-lining, in which a trawl line carrying thousands of baited hooks is let out and retrieved mechanically.

Another method is Danish seining, with ropes run out in a circular pattern and designed to frighten fish into a seine net as the ropes are drawn together. The station is also experimenting with mid-water trawls, purse seines and new types of bottom trawls. The biological researchers cooperate closely with the Atlantic Herring Investigation Committee.

Release Veterans

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—The Oakland Pacific Coast League Club gave outright releases Wednesday to three of the old-timers who helped Casey Stengel win the pennant this season.

They were given to outfielder Brooks Holder, 32, and catchers Ernie Lombardi, 40, and Eddie Fernandez, 33.

It was expected that this signaled a general rebuilding program so that the manager who succeeds Stengel will have a clear field to choose his own personnel. Stengel was signed last week to manage the New York Yankees.

Abbott Says Taxation Pacts Will Strengthen Provinces

QUEBEC (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott said today the federal government, in concluding taxation agreements with the provinces, is seeking to strengthen rather than lessen provincial autonomy.

"No one more than myself desires the preservation of the fundamental principles on which our Dominion is based," said Mr. Abbott in a speech at a meeting of Quebec insurance agents. He spoke in French.

He and his colleagues were aware that the "very existence of sane democracy in this country depends on the existence of strong and virile local and provincial governments."

"But real autonomy and true freedom of action only come with financial solidarity and financial stability. Our aim has been to increase the provinces' financial strength—only foundation for independent and autonomous government."

To Publish History Of Canadian Press

TORONTO (CP)—M. E. Nichols' history of co-operative news-gathering in Canada will be titled "(CP) The Story of the Canadian Press," it was announced today by the publishers, Ryerson Press.

A dozen titles were considered for the 100,000-word book, written in two years by Mr. Nichols, retired publisher of the Vancouver Daily Province and to be published in mid-November. The final choice was selected for its simplicity and descriptive value.

Police Wage Increase Delayed As Oak Bay Budget Clamps Down

Recommended salary raises for Oak Bay's police force are still under consideration by the municipal council which, like other municipalities in Greater Victoria, did not budget for increases which have been recommended by salary commissions in a number of cases this year.

At the Wednesday evening council meeting, the municipal police board advised the council it had approved a salary commission recommendation requiring an additional $453 for police salaries to the end of this year.

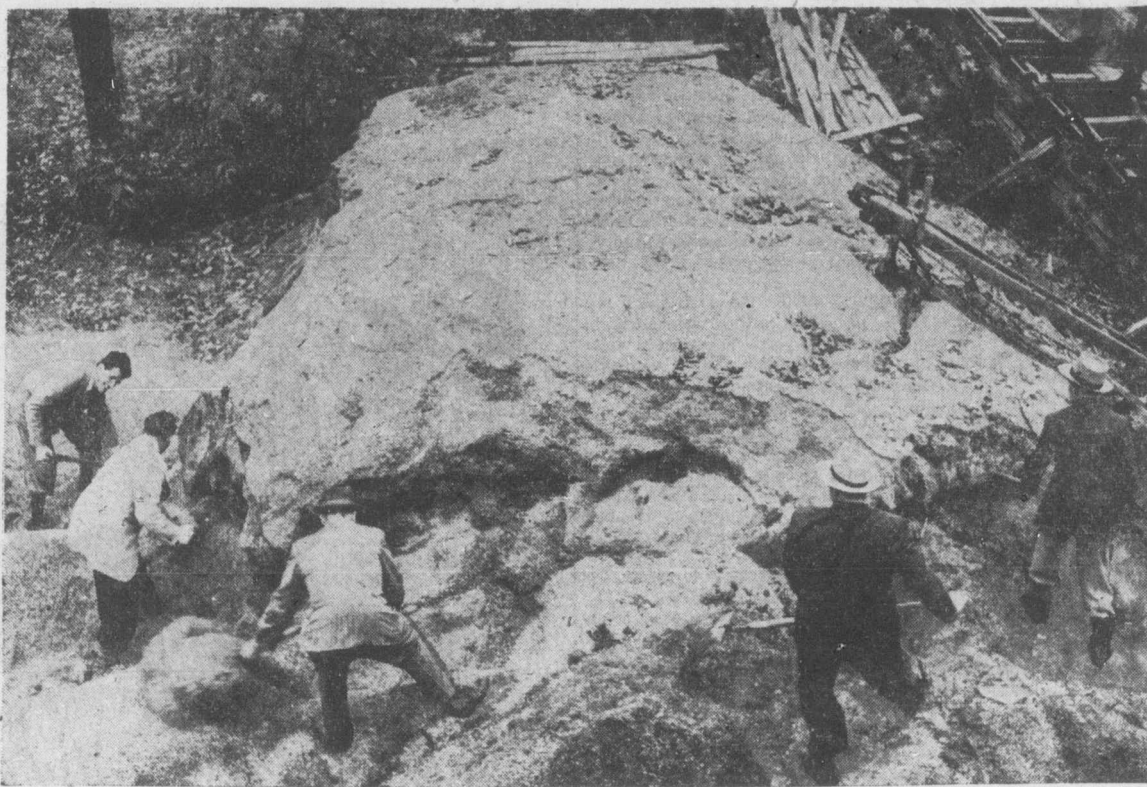

As the increase would be spread out over a six-month period, the individual increases to the 10-man police force, if awarded across the board, would amount to approximately $7.50 a month.

The board wanted to know if the council had sufficient finances available to carry out the commission's recommendation. The council referred the matter to committee of the whole where it was discussed but not decided upon.

He said the two first met on the set of the picture. It is the first marriage for both. Sabu, 24, is a native of Mysore, India.

Police Search Through Sawdust For Body Of Missing Kitchener Woman

The search for Mrs. Emma Pohl goes on in Ontario. A huge pile of sawdust at an abandoned lumber mill three miles from Kitchener was sifted by policemen, as shown above. A tip had been received that a man had been seen digging furtively in sawdust some weeks ago. Police dug into the sawdust, but finally gave up without turning up any clues. Mrs. Pohl, mother of two children, 13 and 9, disappeared, leaving her weekly washing only half completed.

Constable Makes Valiant Attempt To Avert Drowning

Prompt efforts of Constable Aldon Appleton of the city police, to save the life of a man seen floating in Horseshoe Bay, off the Beacon Hill waterfront, proved fruitless about noon Wednesday.

The drowned man was Frank Storek, 3258 Wicklow Street, aged about 75.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. McDonald, 1231 Barclay Street, Vancouver, were walking along the walk near the embankment, opposite where cars park to view the waterfront scene, when they saw the body floating face-down in the water. They immediately contacted city police.

Constable Appleton, riding a motorcycle used for marking cars, was first on the scene.

Reports to the station indicated the man was hanging onto a log. With this in mind, Constable Appleton jumped off his cycle, ran across the field and scurried down the steep embankment to the beach.

There he quickly shed his uniform and with only his underwear on dived in and swam 50 yards to the floating body. He towed it back to shore.

Other policemen arrived. Artificial respiration was administered until a fire department pumpmotor crew arrived. Dr. W. W. Bell, who attended on the beach, pronounced life extinct.

Police reported Mr. Storek had not been seen long.

Police said the man's hat and coat were piled together on the rocks. He was fully clothed. A bruised forehead indicated he might have fallen into the water after slipping on the rocks.

Mr. Storek is reported to have been suffering from deafness.

I.W.A. Officers Plan Fight To Retain Certifications

Mike Sekora, international representative and acting B.C. district secretary of the International Woodworkers of America (C.C.L.C.I.O.), today said the I.W.A. will fight right down the line attempts by the Woodworkers' Industrial Union of Canada to be certified as bargaining agent among the province's 35,000 logging and saw-mill workers.

Mr. Sekora, here today, met members of the provincial labor department and claimed that the W.I.U. had suffered "the most awful licking imaginable." District officers of the I.W.A. recently announced that they had broken away from the international organization and set up a new union for woodworkers, to be known as the W.I.U.

While officers of the W.I.U. have claimed thousands of woodworkers had rallied to their support, Mr. Sekora denied this and said in a count made by the I.W.A. "we know more than 19,000" are staying with the I.W.A.

He reported case after case in which he claimed the W.I.U. did not have the support it claimed.

He said that while the W.I.U. claimed to have local 1-71, this action to affiliate with the W.I.U. had been voted by a handful of woodworkers and not by the hundreds in the local, which includes woodworkers on northern Vancouver Island and the Queen Charlotte Islands.

The W.I.U. claimed the Vancouver local also, but Mr. Sekora said he was certain that of the 5,200 members of the local less than 200 had supported the W.I.U.

ARRANGES MEETINGS

Mr. Sekora, as well as meeting officials of the provincial labor department, is in Victoria to prepare for a meeting to be held Friday night in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium, at which the Victoria woodworkers will name new officers for the I.W.A. local.

He indicated that the plan of the I.W.A. is to set up new officers on a temporary basis in all the 13 locals in the province so that the affairs of the I.W.A. may be carried on.

Officers of the Victoria local were ousted at a meeting last week.

Following the election of temporary officers, Mr. Sekora said, locals will take whatever action is necessary to secure the funds and records of the locals which in many cases have disappeared since the formation of the W.I.U. This will be done through the courts, he said. He added that in some cases theft charges may be laid by the I.W.A. against officers of the W.I.U.

A similar meeting will be held in Duncan on Sunday. Some other locals have already appointed temporary I.W.A. officers. The temporary officers will serve only for a month or so until permanent local officers can be elected. This will be done by referendum ballot—the slate of officers being nominated at a meeting and then sent to each I.W.A. member to vote on.

In each case if the W.I.U. seeks certification in a group of saw-mill or logging camp workers the I.W.A. will contest this and seek to have the Labor Relations Board supervise a vote to deter-

Plan Action To Recover Assets Of I.W.A. Port Alberni Office

Special to the Times
PORT ALBERNI — The cupboard was bare when new officers of I.W.A. Local 1-85 forced entry into the office that has been operated by the W.I.U. since Monday.

Owner of the building, Wm. Burnip, was present and approved the entry. The office was turned over to the I.W.A. by the owner when they pointed out the rent had been paid with I.W.A. funds, the union had not received a month's notice to get out, and were therefore the lawful tenants. Two W.I.U. members present in the building were ordered out after an inventory had been taken in the presence of the building owner.

Missing were a seal, charter, records, correspondence files of the I.W.A., office equipment including typewriter and Gestner duplicating machine and a filing cabinet.

Legal action to recover the property is pending. The surprise move chalks up the first technical inventory of the international union who set up new officers at a meeting last Sunday.

The Eric Graf Hall, said to be part of the assets of the union, is still under W.I.U. control.

Labor Code Clause May Decide Battle Of Logging Unions

VANCOUVER (CP)—Interpretation of a clause in British Columbia's labor code will play a major part in the battle for union control of the west coast logging industry.

Harold Pritchett's Woodworkers' Industrial Union of Canada, rebel offshoot of the International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.), is claiming immediate bargaining rights for his supporters.

The I.W.A. claims they will have to wait 10 months from the date of the recent I.W.A. agreement before they can bargain.

The disputed clause says a new bargaining agent cannot apply for rights until "a" collective agreement has been in force 10 months. Other provincial labor statutes use "the."

The point thus becomes this: Do the words "a collective agreement" refer to the last agreement signed in September, or do they have reference simply to any agreement existing between the union and management.

If the former is the case, the W.I.U. will have no bargaining power until June; if the latter interpretation is proper, they can bargain at once, for loggers have had agreements with operators for years.

Weather

The disturbance which moved inland over northern and central B.C. during the night now extends across Vancouver Island, causing cloudy skies over the southern B.C. coast. The system is weakening appreciably this morning and will produce only occasional light rain in the vicinity of the lower mainland.

Elsewhere over the province, cloudy skies are general and a southwesterly flow of moist Pacific air is expected to bring some rain to the north coast areas this afternoon and overnight. There will be little change in conditions over the rest of the province.

Vancouver and vicinity, lower Fraser Valley, Georgia Straits—Cloudy and cool today and Friday. Occasional very light rain this afternoon or evening. Winds light. Little change in temperature. Low tonight and high Friday at Vancouver airport 42 and 55. Abbotsford airport 38 and 60. Nanaimo 37 and 58.

Victoria and vicinity—Cloudy, with some clearing during mid-afternoon today and Friday. Winds light. Little change in temperature. Low tonight and high Friday at Victoria 47 and 58.

West coast Vancouver Island—Overcast with occasional light rain today. Cloudy tonight and Friday. Winds light. Little change in temperature. Low tonight and high Friday at Estevan point 46 and 56.

PATTERN IN KOREA

SEVERAL MONTHS AGO UNITED
States observers, reviewing the situation in Korea, emphasized the fact that Russia had completed a reorganization job in that territory and might quite safely withdraw its armed forces with the certain knowledge that indoctrinated Koreans would follow the required satellite line. At that time the point was made that the U.S.S.R. could draw a neat propaganda argument from the retirement and would be in a position to make capital out of the fact that American forces remained. The observers noted that the section of Korea in which United States occupation authorities were in control was inadequately equipped to meet a strong Communist thrust.

These analyses appear to be borne out by developments yesterday when Moscow radio announced the beginning of an evacuation of Soviet troops. Simultaneously disorders among the Southern Korea security forces were reported. Early dispatches merely indicated the source of the insurrection. The implication, however, was that it was Communist-led.

The Moscow report of reaction by Korean spokesmen to the withdrawal of U.S.S.R. forces, moreover, makes interesting reading. These spokesmen stressed the "enormous assistance the Soviet Army rendered Korea in her liberation from foreign invasion. They called for strengthening of Korean-Soviet friendship. Other speakers thanked the Soviet Army and its leader, Stalin, who defeated the Japanese Imperialists and brought Korea freedom and independence."

It is not our purpose to detract from the influence of Russian forces poised above Korea during the Second World War, nor to discount the importance of Russia's belated drive. Some dates, however, inevitably come to mind. On Aug. 5, 1945, the first atomic bomb fell on Hiroshima, 10 days after President Truman, Mr. Churchill and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek had issued an ultimatum to Japan. Russia declared war on Japan three days after the first A-bomb, and the second terrifying missile was delivered the following day. On Aug. 14, five days after Russian forces crossed the Manchurian and Korean borders, Japan accepted Allied terms.

Those thousands of families in the western democracies who gave fathers, sons and brothers to the defeat of the Oriental member of the Axis may be pardoned a tinge of bitterness when they read the Moscow-repeated tributes of Korean spokesmen who apparently consider the five-day Russian thrust the determining factor in defeating the enemy. That sentiment, however, can have little effect against the efficient spade-work done by the Soviets in organizing their forces in Korea—a land, incidentally, from which much of the productive capacity was removed by Russian seizure of manufacturing plants.

OUR ELECTORAL ANOMALY

UNDER THE ELECTORAL SYSTEM used in all but a relatively small section of Canada it frequently occurs in federal and provincial elections that the successful candidate wins his or her seat in the House of Commons or Legislature on a minority vote. Impressive evidence of this anomaly is revealed by the full details of the polls—both in the results of individual contests and in the wider distribution of the popular vote. Similar conditions prevail in Great Britain and in other parts of the British Commonwealth. Nor does there seem to be any immediate prospect of a change. Yet there are ardent advocates of reform in all political parties jealous of their democratic privileges.

Ontario's provincial general election of last June provides a glaring example. An analysis of the returns from 53 out of the 90 ridings in that province, for instance, is illuminating. In no fewer than 33 of them the victorious Progressive Conservative candidate will owe his seat in the next Legislature to the division of votes among those nominees who sought to defeat the administration then led by Premier George Drew, with only 20 government supporters winning their battle with a clear majority over all comers. Furthermore, the total Progressive Conservative tally in the 33 constituencies referred to was 254,513, compared with the combined opposition's 348,750. In the case of the C.C.F., by the same token, in only two of the 22 ridings which its standard-bearers won did they head the poll with a margin over their opponents' aggregate. And even in the round dozen ridings which elected Liberals, only three won their seats with a clear majority. In other words, when the provincial House convenes for its new session at Queen's Park, a trifle more than two-thirds of the membership, for the want of a better term, will be minority-elected.

Nothing in the foregoing, of course, is intended to detract in the least from the imposing victory which Mr. Drew scored in one of Canada's most important and wealthiest provinces. The Conservative decline from 66 seats in the former Legislature to 53 in the next, however, was not the most unexpected development as a result of the counting on the evening of June 7. It was the enlargement of the C.C.F. following from eight members to 22—a total membership representing 459,032 votes, while the Liberal Party polled 497,313 votes and only increased its contingent from 11 to 12.

But that is how the present electoral system works. What Mr. Drew may deduce from his own analysis of the whole of the election statistics, perhaps, will be that he will have to work hard as the leader of the National Progressive Conservative Party to overcome the anti-Tory feeling in his own province—regardless of what he and Premier Duplessis may or may not be able to do about Quebec.

LITTLE CAESARS?

THE QUICK ACTION DEMONSTRATED by the Dominion and Manitoba governments in investigating charges that Displaced Persons working in that province have been subjected to sub-standard living conditions will have met with general approval. Any indication that these people are not receiving adequate housing and subsistence on their first venture into Canadian living is to be deplored. Abuses, if any, should be immediately rectified.

In this connection, there is the suggestion of an even greater evil than that threatened by sordid accommodation. According to a Canadian Press dispatch, several of the D.P.s quoted a letter from the supervisor of the Manitoba Farm Help Service, which warned that "every time you object to fair treatment, it will be placed on your record at Ottawa, and if you become undesirable citizens you will not be wanted here."

Such a letter has all the unhealthy aroma of the "Gaullester" mind, to free the world from which we have made so many sacrifices. To hold over newcomers to this country the threat that requests to improve their own welfare will result in a black mark being "placed on your record at Ottawa," sounds too much like the police state to go down with the public of this Dominion. There is no room in Canada for a petty, tin-pot bureaucracy that threatens dire penalties on strangers for the expression of complaints. A little bit of authority is a dangerous thing in the hands of some officials—a fact which the government of Manitoba might well review at this time.

READY TO GO

CEREMONIES IN THE BRIDGE RIVER area next Saturday will mark the opening of a vast new source of electrical power for this province. Nine months ahead of schedule, current will surge through lines running from the power house on the shore of Seton Lake to Vancouver, making available for industrial and domestic users of the lower mainland a unit of 62,000 horsepower. A second unit will be put into service early next year, and subsequent installations will bring the supply ultimately to 600,000 horsepower. This is power development of a magnitude that will have an important influence on the industrial life of the province. It represents utilization of a natural resource that is a major asset to British Columbia.

To the B.C. Electric Company goes the credit for having combined capital, initiative and water power into a project of practical utility to mankind. For many months, more than 1,000 men have been employed in harnessing the Bridge River and directing it through a mountain to drop 1,200 feet through the turbines at Seton Lake. Immense retaining and diversion dams were constructed. A 13,000-foot tunnel through Mission Mountain, built in 1929, was readied to take the flow of water. Penstocks and a power house were built. A 130-mile line of great steel towers was erected, roughly following the route of the P.G.E., to carry the transmission wires to the coast. Turbines and other heavy equipment were installed. By the end of next year a total of $22,000,000 will have been expended in bringing power from the site. The eventual development will represent many times that amount.

This was an achievement of private enterprise—the result of personal vision and effort, and willingness to invest in the future of the province. It represents the partial culmination of a program that will mean increased employment opportunities to the people of British Columbia, an invitation to industry to locate here and use the resources now put at our disposal. With a full appreciation of greater efforts yet to come, we offer commendation for a job well done.

NOT AS A SUBTERFUGE

ON THE GROUNDS THAT A WIFE MAY not be required to testify against her husband, a woman has been refused permission to marry a man now in Oakalla Prison Farm awaiting trial on a charge of murder. According to the report, the Crown wants her as an important witness. The technicality which would have relieved the woman of the necessity of giving testimony is generally known. Had the ceremony been performed she would not have been a compellable witness.

The case presents many opportunities for appeals to sentimentality. These must, however, wither before the forthright statement advanced by the Attorney-General: "They had ample opportunity to marry before if they'd wanted." On the basis of that declaration, there can be no justification for debasing the marriage contract to a mere matter of convenience in order to circumvent the regulations governing witnesses.

"SCREWBALL" ELIMINATOR—$200

A VANCOUVER CONTEMPORARY, JUSTIFIABLY concerned over the approach of the season "when any screwball with a yen for cheap publicity can get it at the city's expense," by filing nomination papers for civic office, suggests that a financial deposit should be required in municipal elections, to be forfeited under conditions similar to those prevailing in federal contests. Requirement of a $200 deposit might keep out a number of candidates. But would they be the "screwballs"? And when it comes to determining who is what in the mental realm, we are reminded of the quotation to the effect that "all the world seems strange but me and thee..."

Also On The Ballot

By CLYDE BLACKBURN,
Washington Correspondent of The Canadian Press.

IN SOME STATES, Nov. 2 election ballots will look like combined rail-and-steamship tickets for a round-the-world trip. A multitude of constitutional amendments, referenda and requests for expressions of popular opinion will be presented to voters when they go to elect a new United States President. Most of them aim at bigger spending and heavier taxes.

IN EIGHT STATES, the legislators are asking for constitutional amendments permitting them to raise their own salaries or to permit the legislatures to fix members' salaries and expense allowances, now frozen by law.

A bigger-spending item is involved in the proposal by 12 states to pay bonuses to veterans of the Second World War. The aggregate cost would be about $1,000,000,000 a year. Nine states already have a bonus system at an aggregate cost of $1,529,000,000.

THE PROPOSED SALARY increases for legislators are not as significant as they sound because members of the state legislatures are not well paid in any event. Many legislatures meet only once a year and some less often. Members get flat allowances in some cases and in others receive per diem payments and expenses.

North Carolina would increase the sessional indemnity from $600 to $2,200. Michigan legislators get $3 a day while sitting and they want an unstated increase, at the discretion of the legislature itself.

Florida legislators want an increase from $6 a day to $12, with an extra $7.50 a day for living costs while attending. California wants the present ceiling of $100 a session removed.

KANSAS WANTS a hike from $3 to $5 a day, plus $7 for expenses. North Dakota and Washington simply want the constitutional power for their legislatures to decide what members will receive.

Maryland asks for an amendment to keep subservient elements out of public office.

Massachusetts seeks to strengthen the constitutional safeguard of free speech and to make it legal to disseminate birth-control information to married women who need it for protection of their lives and health.

SOUTH CAROLINA has no divorce courts and wants power to permit divorces on grounds of adultery, desertion, physical cruelty and habitual drunkenness.

Bone-dry Kansas has a movement to end its 68-year-old prohibition law. Arkansas, California, Colorado, North Dakota, South Dakota, Oregon and Washington are presenting amendments tightening or loosening restrictions on the liquor business.

Voters in 35 states will be asked to answer questions such as these, in addition to selecting their national and state officials, from President down. Louisiana alone has 40 constitutional amendments.

OTHER QUESTIONS to be decided have to do with increased old-age and blind pensions, labor laws, voting restrictions, bond issues, use of gasoline taxes for state purposes and increases in salaries for permanent state officers.

Timber Market

In its Oct. 13 issue, The Times of London devoted two columns to Premier Johnson's discussions of the manner in which industries in the Canadian west have been geared to British needs. Some of the supporting argument for his advocacy of greater use of B.C. lumber in British construction, and shipment of more British steel to this country, is reproduced below.

WHILE BRITISH COLUMBIA is greatly concerned over the future marketing of fish and fruit, it may perhaps be said that in the present state of world shortage these commodities may be counted upon to find one market or another; but timber, our chief basic commodity, stands in a different category. It is the sensitive spot in our economy, because it has been geared to special production. Canada possesses over 90 per cent of the entire softwood resources of the British Commonwealth, and one-half of this total lies in the forests on the Pacific seaboard. Lumbering is our largest industry; it has been developed to its present immense dimensions almost entirely with an eye to the particular requirements of the British market, and it is to that market that we look for a "large continuing trade."

THAT MARKET did not come to us for the asking. In the years before the war Canadian timber producers waged a long and hard-fought battle against Baltic competition; they spent much money in making known the excellent qualities of British Columbia woods; they rebuilt their plants to meet British specifications.

TO THE UNINITIATED it might be supposed that supplying timber means just a little more than cutting down a tree. On the contrary, lumbering today is a highly technical and mechanized industry which has to adapt itself to special requirements. The British Columbia mills have tuned their production to British requirements, and if they are compelled to turn from Britain to their "natural market" of the United States and modify their equipment accordingly, it may be difficult, if not impossible, to get Pacific Coast timber back again to this country when it is most needed. On a long-term policy, and as a measure of national security, the timbers of British Columbia should have a secure and permanent place in British economy.

BRITAIN'S RATIONS

I was much interested in the letter from Miss Gladys Shrapnel which appeared in yesterday's Times, and would like to endorse her remarks. It has been a matter of complete bewilderment to me for some time past that so many people have been ready to believe the so-called "facts" which have been issued to the people of Britain, and for overseas publication, regarding the food situation of the British people.

I, myself, left England four months ago having lived there (in London) through the past 15 years. The diet of the people steadily deteriorated and was considerably less in the spring of this year, than in the war years, even though, at that time our precious shipments were being sunk, and distribution hampered by bombing. In those war days, however, Britain was fortunate enough to have a food minister, Lord Woolton, who knew his job, and he saw to it that no matter what happened the people had their rations, and that these consisted of every possible article of food he could obtain for them.

If it had not been for the parcels of food sent to Britain by the people of Canada, the other Dominions, and the U.S.A. I can assure you that many, many people would have gone hungry often. To my friends in Canada who so generously sent parcels to me, I can never be sufficiently grateful, and in turn, I do my best to send parcels to those in Britain who are not as fortunate as I to be able to live in plenty here in this fair city.

ARENA FINANCING

Would you be kind enough to grant me a small space in your paper, for the following few lines, re the Arena?

I do not see any reason to ask the taxpayers to grant permission for the committee to raise another loan for the Arena, when there are so many skaters in greater Victoria, who, I am sure, if given the opportunity, would be willing to buy season tickets at reasonable rates.

The season tickets could be bought now, to be paid for by the week or the month, as arranged. There is no reason why the skaters who will be using the Arena should not have the benefit of a reduced rate, rather than pay the interest to some outfit which has no interest in the Arena—other than the interest they receive from the money they loan.

I hope this will start something and bring out some good suggestions.

WELL?

Re article in your issue of even date entitled "B.C. Private Schools Seek Certification by Government." I do not agree—if people wish to have their children brought up in the British tradition, as your article states, graduates from Clifton, Newham, Oxford and Cambridge should be employed; surely that is good enough.

It is a well-known fact that education in the colonies is mediocre.

The recent war proved that refugees who came here from England were far ahead of pupils out here.

Education on the continent is excellent.

WALTER W. JOSEPHS,
1707 Lee Avenue.

Editor's Note: The "article" which appeared on page 15 of Monday's Times was a statement Hon. W. T. Straith made in reply to a request for certification that he, as Minister of Education, had received from the Private Schools Association of British Columbia. Since Canada is not a colony, of course, reference to "mediocre" education has no application to this province.

BOUQUET FOR P.W.D.

The Public Works Department, its engineers and contractors are often subject to criticism for acts of omission and commission. It is therefore with pleasure one can say that the job carried out on the highway between Nanaimo and Port Alberni is worthy of the highest commendation.

I have traveled this road many times since the days of the horse stage in 1891, when it took a full day to make the trip and one had to walk up every hill. Now over this superb highway one can drive from Nanaimo to Port Alberni with ease in 1½ hours.

Especially I would like to mention the job being done through Cathedral Grove. Many of us feared the beauty of this virgin forest would be marred by the widening of the road and the removal of many fine trees; but this is not so. One does not miss the trees which were cut and the fine sweeping curves of the new highway enhance and seem to add to the majesty of the scene.

Research Is Fundamental

By JAMES THRASHER from New York

DR. HOWARD E. FRITZ, a scientist specializing in rubber, doesn't know what makes rubber bounce. He would like to know. So, he says, would his colleagues. American industry has done wonderful things with rubber. But nobody really knows why a rubber ball doesn't stay on the floor when you drop it, even though science has been studying the phenomenon for 200 years.

CONTRIBUTED LITTLE
The reason Dr. Fritz mentioned the bouncing rubber is because he thinks American science should be spending more time than it is on problems of fundamental knowledge such as this. He points out correctly that Americans have done more with the world's store of basic scientific information than anyone else, but that they have contributed very little to that store.

In this connection the atomic bomb comes naturally to mind. And it may be recalled that if it had not been for two expatriates, an anti-Fascist Italian physicist and a German-Jewish woman scientist, the Axis and not the Allies would probably have been first with the bomb.

There are several other examples of this kind, extending back more than a century. As Dr. Fritz put it, "We (Americans) are not scientists, we are applied researchers. How fortunate for ourselves and our engineering economy that in the past scientists have always exchanged views internationally."

SCENE CHANGING
"However, the scene is changing," he adds. "Some nations now suppress free exchange of scientific information. This plainly means that we must step up the quality and quantity of our fundamental research."

To help accomplish this purpose Dr. Fritz's employers, the B. F. Goodrich Co., have recently opened a $6,000,000 research centre near Akron. With past experience in mind, it might be prudent if other companies and other industries followed that example.

In the early days of World War II American industry suddenly found that the rapid Japanese advance had cut the country off from its principal sources of rubber, tin and several other vital necessities of manufacture. With that lesson in mind the country is now beginning to stockpile certain strategic materials not found here against another possible emergency.

But it would seem equally necessary that the country should think about a stockpile of scientific knowledge, which is the raw material of America's vaunted genius for adaptation and production. Another war might cut the U.S. off from that raw material as surely as the last war cut it off from tin and natural rubber.

DEFENSE ESSENTIALS

New research laboratories would not mean that the country was "war mongering." They might be essentials of national defence, to be sure. But they could also serve simultaneously as centres of knowledge to improve the health and comfort of all mankind when a stable peace is finally achieved.

THE REAL KEY to the Russian riddle lies, I believe, in the fact that the Soviet government forever leads a double life. Simultaneously, it is pursuing not one, but two foreign policies. One is a "plain" policy, concerned with security, trade and all the interests that go to form the foreign policy of any land. The other is the foreign policy of the Communist Party.

These two are not always either parallel or compatible. The objectives are by no means the same. Sometimes, they seek to oppose each other.

At such times, gorgeous contradictions are succeeded by stunning paradoxes.

Here is an example: From the appearance of Hitler to the outbreak of war the Soviets were fiercely opposed to Germany. The two governments fulminated against each other, for years in such terms as "Fascist beasts," "Bolshevik, Mongolian savages," and similar pleasantries.

MAGIC CHANGE

Yet, in 1939, Russia suddenly signed a non-aggression treaty with Germany. Magically, overnight, the two governments became "friendly."

Do you remember the amazing circulations and mental acrobatics performed by Canadian and American Communist leaders in trying to explain this to the shocked and bewildered brethren?

What they couldn't say, by way of explanation, was this: That, at that moment, Communist Party policy, with its line and objectives, had been forced to give way to the "plain" foreign policy which had as its objective military security.

The Kremlin saw a war coming. Sooner or later the German hordes would be turned on Russia. The Red army wasn't ready, then.

So, even though Nazi Germany represented the deepest and worst and blackest type of capitalist state—the very type the Communist has sworn to destroy—party policy, for the time being, had to be abandoned. It was a case of plain necessity.

ANOTHER SWITCH

Then, in 1940, Germany attacked Russia, as the Kremlin had foreseen. Russia suddenly found herself "allied" with some other filthy capitalists. But was she? Not according to Eugene Varga, a Soviet political expert. He wrote:

"The fact that the Soviet Union and highly-developed capitalist states were in the same camp against Fascist aggression meant that the struggle of the two systems was relaxed and temporarily stopped. It did not mean, of course, that the struggle was ended."

Because of the venomous hatred of the orthodox Communist for the capitalist countries, Lenin consistently frowned on any form of international co-operation. He was afraid of being outvoted in the democratic processes.

Therefore, he called the league of nations a "devil's kitchen." Yet, in 1922, the Soviet government began participating in international conferences. In 1945, it joined the United Nations.

Why? Again, because of plain necessity in terms of ordinary security.

In 1922, the Reds were only five years in their revolution. They dreaded an assault by the combined capitalist powers. So, temporarily turning on the orthodox Communist line, they went into the league. For identical reasons, in 1945—because of being exhausted by the German occupation and the war in the east—they joined the U.N.

MODEL CAMPAIGNER

Winnipeg Free Press
Mr. L. B. Pearson, now contesting the by-election in Algoma East, continues to be a model campaigner. He told an audience recently that an old-time campaigner, riding in his car, shouted in his ear at one point: "You can stop waving now, we are out of your constituency."

COSTLIER THAN COPPERS

London Daily Mirror
Absence of buttons from church collections "is not due to a realization that it is sinful to pretend... but for the fact that buttons are costlier than coppers nowadays," says the vicar, the Rev. W. A. Gibson, of Wimbledon, London, in his magazine.

New Type Raft Makes Logging History

A Gibson raft, recently delivered at Port Alberni, is shown above. This method of transporting logs on the west coast is making rafting history in the logging business.

PORT ALBERNI—The losses and expense of transporting logs on the West Coast of Vancouver Island has been surmounted in an ingenious manner by Gibson Bros. loggers and sawmill operators.

Gordon Gibson invented a new raft which can be built economically and unloaded in a short time. It is making logging history on the west coast. The "Gibson rafts" have stood the test of three years towing on the west coast without loss of a single log. The towline broke in a storm and a raft was at the mercy of the seas for three days before it could be taken under tow, but it remained intact.

A raft can be built by six men using a skyline and a donkey and can be unloaded by three men in less than one day. Capacity of the rafts vary from 350,000 to 750,000 feet of logs with the average raft containing 550,000 feet.

The logs have been delivered from the Gibson's logging operations on the west coast to points as far as Victoria and Vancouver. Latest point of delivery is Port Alberni where the Gibsons are now operating the Tidewater Lumber Mill.

The rafts effect great saving in equipment used to bind the logs together and every log is a payload sawlog.

The new type of raft is immeasurably cheaper to build than the Davis raft.

1 1/2 cups sifted granulated sugar	1 teaspoon vanilla
1 1/4 cups egg whites	1/4 teaspoon almond extract
1/4 teaspoon salt	1/2 cup thinly-sliced blanched almonds

Sift flour once, measure, add 1/2 cup sugar; sift 4 times. ## British Rush Work On Brabazon; Plane To Take To Air Next Year

BRISTOL, Eng. (CP) — In a vast hangar at Filton, Gloucestershire, near here, 150 skilled technicians work overtime to ensure that Britain's largest airplane, the 130-ton Brabazon, will take the air next year.

Nearly £11,500,000 ($46,000,000) of the taxpayers' money has been spent in development of this new airliner, on hangars to house it and runways to permit it to land and take off.

Planned during the war, the Brabazon would have flown long ago if Britons' hopes had been realized. Alterations and shortages of material contributed to delays, but did not reduce the pride of this seaport community in what will be a flying laboratory, destined to earn nothing in passenger fares.

The money-earner Brabazons will come later when the present machine has been tested and demonstrated what design changes are necessary.

Arthur John (Bill) Pegg, 42, chief Bristol Aeroplane Company test pilot, is to take the Brabazon into the air for the first time while thousands who have shared in her building watch with pride.

"I shall fly the cockpit and hope the rest follows," said Pegg. The eight-engined plane has a wing span of 230 feet and the rudder tip is 50 feet from the ground. It will be able to carry 100 people non-stop across the Atlantic at 300 m.p.h.

It represents the labor for three years of 800 craftsmen who have worked from the plans of 165 designers and draughtsmen. The runway from which it will fly has been extended to 2,750 yards in length and 100 yards wide.

Runway costs were high because part of the village of Charlton, including houses and a pub, had to be removed to give the space required.

Labor Council Seats S.I.U. Delegates Despite Controversy

Two delegates from the Seafarers' International Union of North America, one of the parties in the controversial Frank Hall issue at the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada convention here last week, were seated at the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council meeting here Wednesday night.

While the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council is affiliated with the T.L.C., the T.L.C. took action against Mr. Hall, Canadian vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, an A.F.L. affiliate, for effecting the merger of the Canadian Lake Seamen's Union and the S.I.U. The S.I.U., also an A.F.L. affiliate, had been declared a dual union to the Canadian Seamen's Union, a T.L.C.-chartered organization of 7,000 members.

The Victoria and Vancouver trades and labor councils are the only two T.L.C. councils in Canada which have seated S.I.U. delegates.

The delegates seated Wednesday night as alternates were F. Ward and J. Hall.

The council has tabled an application of the C.S.U. to send delegates to the council.

Other delegates seated at the closed meeting were: G. M. Taylor, Canadian Chemical and Explosive Workers Industrial Union; Gladys Jaynes, Hotel and Restaurant Employees Local 459, and A. Bryce, Vancouver and Victoria gas workers.

All unions were requested to send delegates to the Senior Citizens Campaign Council which will meet Oct. 26 in the Hard of Hearing Hall to map out plans to support Senior Citizens Week in November.

Delegates were also urged to attend a meeting of the Church Labor Association which will meet Friday at 8 in the Trades and Labor Hall.

The council was told that herring fishermen had settled for $7.50 a ton in a dispute with canneries and reduction plants over the price of the 1948-49 catch.

It was taken as directors of the company from Canada, Great Britain and the U.S. were making a tour of the workings. They can be seen emerging from their bus away down in the pit. Local Observatory Leads In Fixing Speed Of Stars

Dominion Astrophysical Observatory in Saanich had taken a leading part in determining and measuring the movement of stars, according to Dr. R. M.

Petrie, assistant director of the observatory here. Dr. Petrie, speaking at the opening winter lecture series of the Victoria Centre, Royal Astronomical Society, at Victoria College, said about one-quarter or one third of all the radial velocities of stars now used had been determined at the observatory here.

Radial velocity tells whether the star is coming towards or going away from the earth and

sun. "We now know the radial velocities of about 10,000 stars," he said. "We have complete information on about 5,000."

While speaking on the movement of stars, Dr. Petrie said there was only a small danger of a marauding star colliding with the earth or approaching close enough to cause trouble. The astronomer said that about one star in 100,000 during its life was in danger of colliding or approaching close to another body.

Stars Give Credit To Those Who Guided Them Into Movies

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Who is the person behind the star?

For every famous figure there is another behind the scenes that gave him the first push toward success.

For an insight into the road to stardom, we asked film personalities this question: "The influence of what single person made you a movie star?" Here's how they replied:

Gregory Peck: Katherine Cornell and Guthrie McClintic gave me my first professional stage work—four lines. I worked with them for two years and learned a lot about acting. I turned down Hollywood offers until economics drove me west. I was in debt and couldn't see any other way out.

Dan Duryea: Alexander M. Drumm, my drama instructor at Cornell University, taught me a great number of things that I still find useful. Strangely enough, he advised me against becoming an actor.

John Garfield: Angelo Patri, principal of the school I attended in New York. I was sent to the school a little delinquent and Patri kept my mind out of mischief and got me interested in debating and acting.

Joel McCrea: William S. Hart was my inspiration. When I was 12 I delivered papers to him. He was very nice and his job seemed like a good way to make money. Will Rogers actually got me into the business. I played his son in two pictures and that set me up with the public.

Zachary Scott (a frank fellow): Me? I wanted to make some money and acting was the thing I could do best.

Jack Carson: Ginger Rogers rejected me as a suitor in five or six pictures at R.K.O. I decided to change studios and concentrate on comedy roles.

Danny Kaye: There is no single person or event. It is an accumulation—Danny Kaye is an accumulation.

Queen's Blue Ensemble Worn By Maureen Agnes Callan

Rich chocolate brown accessories were in perfect contrast with the distinctive Queen's blue gabardine suite worn by Maureen Agnes Callan when she exchanged nuptial vows with George Edwin Hiberson. The quiet ceremony was solemnized by Father John R. Buckley in the rectory of Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Tuesday evening. A mauve orchid corsage bouquet added an exquisite touch to the bride's suit, and she completed her ensemble with a chocolate brown model hat featuring Queen's blue feather trim. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

Louis Callan, 1514 Amphion Street, the bride wore her groom's gift, a gold watch.

Miss Joan Callan, bridesmaid for her sister, wore a smoke grey taffeta suit with pale blue accessories in accord. Her corsage bouquet was of delicate pink rosebuds.

The groom, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hiberson, 1513 Amphion Street, chose as best man his brother, Leonard. Guests extended best wishes to the newlyweds at a reception at the Callan home.

Rooms were colorfully decorated with autumn-toned chrysanthemums by Mrs. Charles McKay, cousin of the bride, who decorated the refreshment table with pink carnations, and lighted white candles in silver holders. A three-tier cake was the centerpiece.

Parents of the bride and groom assisted them in receiving their friends. George Pears proposed the toast.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiberson are honeymooning at Yellow Point Lodge, V.I., and later will return to the city to make their home. A chocolate brown gabardine topcoat completed the bride's traveling ensemble.

Professor Discusses Neuroses At University Women's Meeting

"Neuroses are products of our culture and an accompanying intensity matches the increased complexity of civilization," stated William H. Gaddes, M.A., assistant professor of psychology at Victoria College, when he addressed members of the University Women's Club Wednesday evening in the lounge at Liberal committee rooms.

Opening his theme, "Neurotic Personality, a Problem in Mental Hygiene," Professor Gaddes presented a full definition of the neurotic personality and used case histories to illustrate the many and varied symptoms.

"All neuroses are caused by an underlying conflict and anxiety, and characterized by the individual's compromise defence mechanisms," he pointed out. "Most neurotics," he continued, "show an emotional constriction and a discrepancy between their abilities and accomplishments."

In closing, he told members that avoiding anxiety and conflict as much as possible is the chief therapeutic technique and governments everywhere, realizing this, are setting up psychiatric clinics to carry out psychotherapeutic preventive measures. Mrs. Herbert Booth, film convener, told members of the Greater Victoria Film Council film festival Nov. 4, 5 and 6 at the screening rooms of the National Film Board, 1217 Wharf Street.

Members voted $84 toward the rebuilding of Crosby House, the University Women's centre in London, which suffered from bombing during the war.

With new president, Mrs. K. O. Wright, in the chair, 20 new members were welcomed.

Princess Elizabeth Attends Wedding

LONDON (AP) — Princess Elizabeth, clad in an olive-green maternity dress, turned out with the Royal family Wednesday for the wedding of two members of her household.

Principals in the ceremony at St. Margaret's Church in Westminster were Elizabeth's lady-in-waiting, Lady Margaret Egerton, fifth daughter of the late Earl of Elmore, and the Princess' private secretary, John Colville.

Mr. and Mrs. Winston Churchill also attended. Colville was Churchill's secretary before accepting the palace post less than two years ago. He and his bride met for the first time then.

Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh, accompanied Princess Elizabeth on what was probably her last public appearance before the expected birth of their child next month.

Princess Margaret was a bridesmaid. The King in morning coat, was accompanied by the Queen in a claret velvet dress with an off-the-face hat. Queen Mary wore a powder blue coat with grey fur collar.

There were approximately 2,000 guests. Hundreds of uninvited crowded the streets outside for a glimpse of the Royal Family.

Overworked Mothers Need Rest Camps, Too

LONDON (AP) — Rest camps for overworked mothers were proposed today by Lord Beveridge, economist.

"A housewife and mother may at times be just as much in need of rehabilitation to do her job as a crash-shocked airman," Lord Beveridge declared in a sociological report.

Easing the harried mother's burden is one of the social tasks which should be taken over by private agencies, said Lord Beveridge.

Study Book Talk — Mrs. W. Latham gave an interesting digest of the second chapter of the study book "West of the Gorges" at the October meeting of First United Women's Missionary Society, held in the new Young Peoples' Room at the church. Mrs. W. Chisholm presided and Mrs. D. Smith took the devotional period. It was announced that the autumn thank-offering meeting would be held on Nov. 18.

Next Tuesday night the North Saanich Liberal Association will meet in Sidney. A successor will be named to W. E. Poupore, current president, who has been elected Liberal candidate for Nanaimo. Other officers will also be elected. This meeting will be addressed by Mr. Poupore and Arthur Ash, Liberal member for Saanich in the B.C. Legislature.

The Saanich Liberal Association will hold its annual meeting next Thursday night at Liberal headquarters, 1322 A Government Street, Rev. William Hills of Cordova Bay will address the meeting. The present president is J. G. Mitchell, Sidney.

The annual meetings of the Victoria Liberal Association and the Oak Bay Liberal Association are planned for November.

Twenty delegates will be sent from Vancouver Island to the convention of young Liberals to be held in Harrison Hot Springs Nov. 26 and 27. ## Youth In Street Stripped Of Clothes

SEATTLE (AP) — Passersby looked on in amazement Wednesday as two men on a downtown street rapidly stripped a third, younger man of his clothing.

One of them called police as the youth was left standing in a doorway, clad only in shirt, shorts and shoes.

Patrolman Alex Cadler received a logical explanation for the whole thing when he arrived on the scene. William Houghan, 56, explained that a suit of clothes had been stolen from his room. He and his roommate, Mark McNeely, were walking along the street when they saw the young man wearing Houghan's suit. So they forthrightly took back Houghan's property. The youth went to jail.

TO ENTER SEATTLE SHOW—Len Hollyoak, left, and Dave Nichol, both of Victoria, shown with a few of the chrysanthemum blooms they will enter in the international flower show to be held this week in Seattle. The two left this city yesterday. The show in which their magnificent blooms will be entered will be held at the Olympic Hotel. As well as entries from all parts of the United States and Canada the show is receiving entries from such far-away places as England and Japan.

Veterans Criticize Report On Green's Arthritis 'Cure'

A clash of views between members of the Esquimalt Dockyard Branch of the Canadian Legion and members of the medical profession loomed today over the arthritis cure claims of Lou F. Green of Port Alberni.

A number of members at a meeting Wednesday expressed the opinion that Mr. Green, who claims he has discovered a cure for arthritis, has been given a "raw deal."

The meeting endorsed a resolution of Saanich Ward 4 Ratepayers' Association calling for a further government-sponsored medical investigation into Mr. Green's treatment.

Legion members felt the report of the provincial government arthritis investigation committee on the alleged arthritis cure, was incomplete and misleading.

CHAMPIONED BY REEVE

"The publicity given to his treatment has not been fair," Reeve A. I. Thomas of Esquimalt, told the meeting. "The committee failed to explain how people have been cured. It did not interview many persons who had been cured of the disease."

Mr. Thomas said all the doctors were against Mr. Green.

He said a five-year-old child suffering from an illness had got relief from Mr. Green's treatment in New Westminster.

He said doctors were now claiming they were responsible for bettering her condition.

"The doctors are now trying to force the parents to pay them for something they did not do," stated Mr. Thomas.

Mr. Thomas said he flew to Vancouver and visited the parents of the child.

The Zone Council of the Canadian Legion, he said, would be asked to investigate the case and to see if there was any justification for the doctors to press the parents for payments.

Mr. Thomas also said he had received a letter from a doctor who claimed Mr. Green had stolen the formula of the medicine from him.

"It is most ridiculous," said Mr. Thomas. "He had the audacity to send me this letter."

"If he had the formula for so many years," said Mr. Thomas, "why didn't he use it to relieve suffering and sick people?"

He added: "Something must be wrong with his head."

Mr. Thomas revealed that certain people in Port Alberni had attempted to "cut into the profits" which Mr. Green made on his medicine. He said that was why Mr. Green was obliged to leave Port Alberni and establish himself outside of Esquimalt.

member. "I'm feeling much better since I've started on his cure."

Memorial Service At Esquimalt Nov. 11

All arrangements have been completed for the memorial service to be held at Esquimalt Memorial Park Nov. 11, it was reported at a meeting of Esquimalt branch of the legion Wednesday night. A parade will precede the service to honor the war dead of two conflicts.

Asks Uniform System Of House Numbering

The possibility of a by-law requiring a uniform system of house numbering throughout Oak Bay came up at the meeting of the municipal council Wednesday evening.

The idea was introduced by Councillor George Murdoch, who felt that the present house numbering in the municipality was creating too much difficulty for such services as those offered by the police, fire department, delivery men and taxi drivers. He asked the councillors if they thought it would be advisable to introduce a by-law which would require a uniform system of numbering that would be visible from the streets both by day and night.

The matter was referred to the municipal engineer for a report, and to the municipal legal adviser for his opinion on Oak Bay's authority to pass such a by-law.

Oak Bay Kiwanis Net $753 Profit

A net profit of $753 was realized by the Kiwanis Club of Oak Bay at its refreshment stand in Willows Park this summer, the club advised Oak Bay council Wednesday evening in a letter of thanks to the council.

Sales totaled approximately 20,000 in number and brought in gross receipts of $2,500, the letter said.

The profit will be used for providing recreational facilities for the youth of Oak Bay. Among projects being launched by the club are a playing field close to the fire hall, a wading pool at Shoal Bay, assistance to the playground committee, in the spring, the club proposes to initiate other projects.

The councillors were thanked by the club for their assistance and co-operation.

Urges Storm Drainage

Early installation of storm water draining adjoining the Willows Fairgrounds was advocated by A. S. G. Musgrave, municipal engineer, at a meeting of Oak Bay Council Wednesday evening.

He urged an early start on the work in view of the rapid approach of the wet season.

The matter was referred to the committee of the whole.

Plan Clarification Of Parsons' Taxes

OTTAWA (CP)—The government announced Wednesday night it plans to amend the income tax laws to make it clear that clergymen need not pay tax on the value of a manse or parsonage provided for them by the church.

A statement issued jointly by Finance Minister Abbott and Revenue Minister McCann said the amendment will be introduced in parliament at the time of the next budget.

The statement noted that clergymen are not now paying this tax, but added that it was "doubtful" whether the present law would bear the interpretation that the parsonage should be tax free. This will be made clear in the amendment and, in the meantime, the exemption will continue to apply.

The two cabinet ministers said the government, accept the view that clergymen should not have to pay tax on church-provided residences "in view of the extent to which the manse or parsonage in a community is used for the general benefit of the congregation for meetings, gatherings of various kinds, consultations and other parish activities."

Oak Bay Experiments

Oak Bay is already experimenting with a new street-lighting system in certain parts of the municipality, A. S. G. Musgrave, municipal engineer, advised the council Wednesday evening.

At present, the B.C. Electric is making an estimate of the cost of the new system throughout the municipality.

Oak Bay Teachers To Continue Patrol

Councillor George Murdoch unsuccessfully protested to Oak Bay council Wednesday evening that Oak Bay school teachers were being required to give up part of their lunch hour to guard students crossing the roadways to and from school. He wanted some other method of protection.

Reeve R. A. B. Wootton said the council would note this but added that, as the school board had said nothing in protest, the council could consider the board was satisfied with the present arrangements.

At a London auction a life size bronze bust of George Bernard Shaw by Jacob Epstein was auctioned for $1,440.

Donates Flagpole

Former Oak Bay councillor, C. C. Annett, has donated a 60-foot flagpole to the municipality for erection at the Oak Bay Memorial Park.

A. S. G. Musgrave, municipal engineer, reports the pole has been taken from Gordon Head to the Oak Bay public works yard where it is now being planed off, painted and equipped with halyards and other running gear.

Says News Soon On Willows Negotiations

Reeve R. A. B. Wootton, at Oak Bay Council Wednesday evening, revealed that there will shortly be definite news on the progress of negotiations for purchase of the Willows fairgrounds.

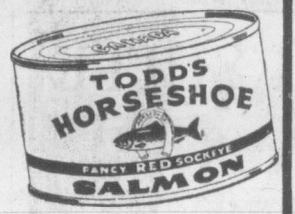

He estimated that he could make a public statement on "something definite" in two weeks' time.

Lanky Clark Paces Y.M.C.A. To Victory

In a wild affair that gave city cage followers plenty of action, Y.M.C.A. senior A hoopers deadlocked the race for the league leadership last night by handing K.V.'s a 52 to 38 lashing in the feature of another three-game card at the High School gym.

Winners captured the contest on the strength of a brilliant second-half offensive that saw the K.V.'s completely out-hustled in the fast play.

The "Y" held an edge in shooting during the first part of the opening stanza, but the orange-shirts gradually crept up and at the whistle, enjoyed a comfortable 15 to 9 margin. K.V.'s increased their lead to seven points early in the second quarter, but a pair of brilliant field goals and a free toss by little Red Mason and two-pointers by Rookie Wright and Johnny Clark closed the margin, 22 to 21, with about two minutes remaining. Sid Watson sank a free shot for K.V.'s, but Wright tied the game, 22 to 23, and Reg Clarkson potted a gift shot just before the whistle to give winners a single-point edge.

Flying "Y" squad finally pulled away after play resumed and successive field goals by Clark and Wright, a pair of free tosses by R. Clarkson, and two more field goals by Clark and Mason gave them a 34 to 23 lead. However, the orangeshirts pulled closer towards the close of the quarter, scoring six straight points to leave it 34 to 29 going into the finale.

CLARK TOPS SCORERS

Clark used his height to advantage all through the contest, grabbing off rebounds and pouring through 14 points to lead the scoring parade. R. Clarkson was another spark in the "Y" victory, and his speed was one of the deciding factors in the game. Freddy Ranson potted some lovely baskets for losers to wind up with 13 points, while Ralph Anderson, also of K.V.'s, was next with 12.

In the preliminaries, Tillicums trounced Mt. Tolmie, 42 to 11 in a junior boys' tussle and Spencers opened up strong in last three quarters after a slow start to snag a handy 48 to 21 decision from Elks in an intermediate A match.

Bernie Clarkson played a steady game for Spencers, potting 15 points and continually setting up his mates. Art Green was high for losers with seven. Teams and scores follow:

Y.M.C.A.—R. Clarkson 11, Clark 14, Dale 6, Wright 5, Mason 7, Chungnes, V. Clarkson 3.
K.V.—McGaughey 3, Hampton 2, Anderson 12, Ranson 10, McKinnon 2, Canner 7, Prior 1, Watson 1, Curtis 1.
Spencers—Pitt 7, Lewis 10, Kincaid 2, B. Clarkson 15, Weaver 6, Griffin 4, Matthews 8, Bain, Geisler 6.
Elks—MacArthur 4, Carroll 4, Ritchie, Davidson 4, Alair 2, Green 7, Saunders, Tillicums—Shields 1, Bray 6, Salinan 5, Chow 7, Tripp 2, Hampton 2, Canner 7, Greg 2, Robertson, Whan 2, Davies 11, Mount, Tolmie—Pederson, B. Green, 2, Skilling 2, White, Hansen, Newton, Thorburn.

Garden Throws Weight Behind Canny Jacobs

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK (AP)—Powerful Madison Square Garden threw its corporate strength squarely behind Mike Jacobs today in the latter's gathering struggle to retain his boxing monopoly against the challenge of the Tournament of Champions.

Ned Irish, garden vice-president, said Jacobs' 20th Century Club would be backed in its battle against any opposition "to the limit of the garden's resources—which are considerable."

By coincidence (or perhaps not) the pledge came the day before the rival Tournament of Champions holds its first indoor show tonight at Jersey City between Tipper Larkin and Charley Fusari. The occasion was a luncheon in honor of Harry Markson, just appointed managing director of the 20th Century in an obvious effort to inject new life into an outfit which has been somewhat moribund since Jacobs, himself, became ill two winters ago.

Markson, getting away fast, said he was launching an elaborate scheme to import a shipload of the most promising fighters in Europe.

One reason for the sudden burst of activity is believed to be the report that television and radio interests, representing big money, are on the point of buying controlling interest in the new Tournament of Champions.

"We probably could get along without boxing," Irish said. "That is, so far as revenue is concerned. But it means a great deal to the Garden prestige. And the man we want to promote fights in the Garden is Mike Jacobs."

AMBITIOUS PROGRAM

JERSEY CITY (AP)—The Tournament of Champions, newest threat to Mike Jacobs' fight empire, opens an ambitious winter program tonight with a 10-round Larkin-Charley Fusari 10-round scrap at the Jersey City armory.

Unable to locate in New York because no sizeable arena was available, the T. of C. drew up plans for a series of indoor shows at the 13,000-capacity armory. The only other bout announced to date will send Ray Robinson, the welter champion, against Steve Beltrise in an overweight scrap Dec. 2.

Fusari and Larkin, an all-New Jersey affair, is expected to draw around $30,000. Larkin has won seven straight this year, including a kayo over Willie Beltrame at the Garden. Fusari dropped one of seven fights in 1948, losing to Al Priest of Boston, a decision he later reversed.

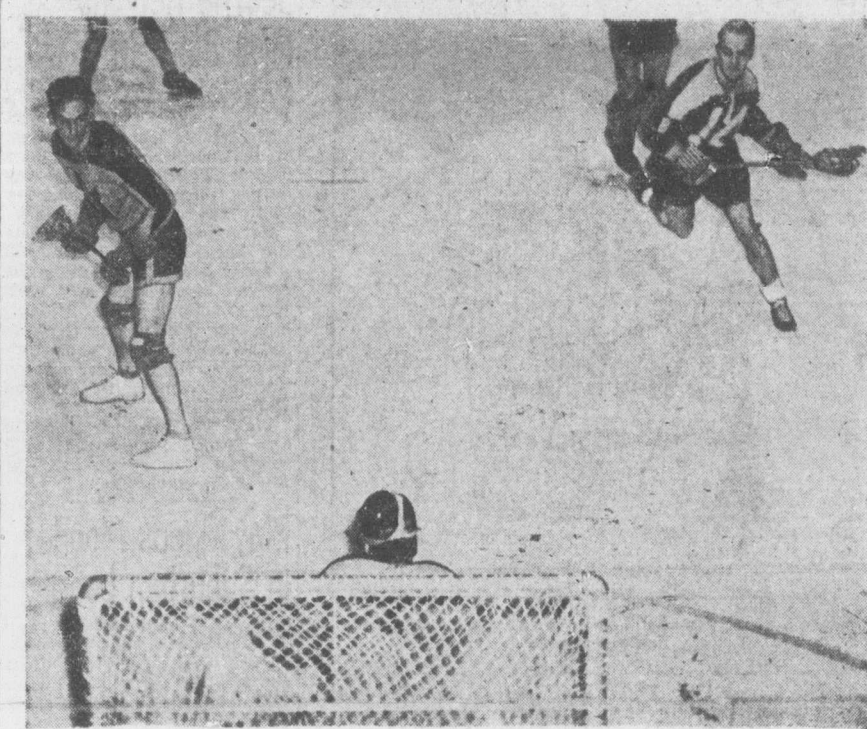

Robinson has said he will give the winner a crack at his 147-pound crown.

Owner Wrigley Takes Full Blame For Cubs' Collapse

CHICAGO (AP)—Owner Phil Wrigley of the last-place Chicago Cubs said Wednesday there was "a difference of objectives" between field manager Charley Grimm and general manager Jim Gallagher last season, but blamed the club's cellar finish on himself.

Only operational change for 1949, Wrigley said, is appointment of coach Red Smith as "contact" man for possible player deals.

Wrigley, who conceded in a paid newspaper advertisement last summer that the Cubs' rebuilding program was a flop, admitted that Grimm and Gallagher had been at odds.

"It's rather difficult to explain," said the chewing-gum executive. "It wasn't real friction, but they had two different viewpoints."

"The general manager, of course, is interested not only in the present, but also the future. The field manager's chief concern is the immediate day's game and whether he has the players to win it."

COSTLY EXPERIMENT

Wrigley said the Cubs' experiment with several players, who needed a couple more seasons of top minor league experience, was a major factor in the club's last-place finish, second in Cub history.

"I should have stepped in to keep balance in the debates between Grimm and Gallagher over players Grimm thought he should have. I'm going to spend a lot more time with the baseball business from here on."

Wrigley emphasized that there was no question of personalities involved, commenting: "I believe Grimm has done a good job and so has Gallagher. Other clubs start firing right and left when things go wrong. I don't operate that way. No matter whom you hire as a manager, he will have strong and weak points."

Other net scores follow: Mrs. C. Keown and Mrs. R. Norworthy, 81½; Mrs. A. Swan and Miss I. Jarvis, 82½; Mrs. P. Scott and Mrs. R. Wadell, 84½; Mrs. A. O. Cooke and Miss D. Hammett, 87½; Mrs. J. Clark and Miss E. Amey, 91½; Mrs. M. Hulke and Miss A. Cosgrove, 92½; Mrs. S. Paterson and Miss O. Cosgrove, 93½; Mrs. R. Panthorpe and Miss J. Stock, 93½; Mrs. O. Carroll and Miss J. McDowell, 100½; Miss N. O'Connell and Miss S. Fry, 106.

In one of the most thrilling comebacks in the history of the Mann Cup series, Hamilton Tigers defeated New Westminster Adanacs last night for the Dominion box lacrosse title. Hamilton took three straight games after dropping the first two. The Hamilton sniper trying to beat Adanacs' goalie, Gordie Pogue, is Tommy Love. At the left is Tigers' goalie Doug Flavell, who was awarded the Mike Kelly trophy as the outstanding player in the series.

Sandford Scoring Star In Boston Win

Boston Bruins went into a first-place tie in the National Hockey League last night—and pulled young Ed. Sandford into first place in the league scoring race.

The young centre from Toronto—playing his second year in the big time—collected a pair of goals and a pair of assists as Bruins slammed Chicago's Black Hawks 8 to 3 in the league's only scheduled game.

It put Bruins atop the ladder with Detroit Red Wings—both of them undefeated in two games. And it left Chicago right down at the bottom—winless after three games.

Meanwhile, rumors out of Montreal said Charlie Conacher, Chicago coach, was dickering with Canadiens for much-needed defensive strength for his ailing Hawks. The reports said Conacher might swap forward Adam Brown for defenceman Hal Laycoe, now on loan to Buffalo Bisons of the American Hockey League.

Sandford's scoring, added to two goals he scored against Toronto Maple Leafs last week, gave him six points—two ahead

	W	L	D	F	A	Pts.
Detroit	2	0	0	10	1	4
Boston	2	0	0	12	4	4
Canadiens	1	0	1	9	3	3
Rangers	0	1	1	1	8	1
Toronto	0	1	0	1	4	0
Chicago	0	3	0	6	19	0

of Canadiens Elmer Lach and Detroit's Max McNab.

Rookie rearguard Ed Kryzanski got his first N.H.L. goal for Boston to open the third period. Grant Warwick got two more while Johnny Peirson, Ken Smith and Jim Peters each joined the parade.

Roy Conacher clicked twice for the Hawks and Doug Bentley got the other.

In tonight's game, Toronto Maple Leafs will take on the second-place Canadiens—trying to break the jinx of the Montreal Forum where they have not won a game since last Christmas night.

The hapless Hawks visit Toronto Saturday while Red Wings go to Montreal.

Goals by Warwick and Sandford put Boston ahead 2 to 0 by the end of the first period and Peirson added one early in the middle frame. Conacher clicked while Boston's Ed Harrison sat out a penalty, but less than a minute later both Sandford and Peters had scored. Hawks held even with the Bruins in the final period.

Hamilton Tigers Lift Lacrosse Title After Brilliant Comeback

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

LATEST move by officials of the Victoria United Coast League soccer club to build up spectator interest among the city's teen-age players is a smart one. Brain child of secretary-treasurer Ed Mackenzie, the plan to have nearly 300 schoolboy players in attendance at home matches is certain to build the team a lot of goodwill, in addition to giving the youngsters an opportunity to watch the top-ranking players in the province in action.

I WOULD suggest the United go a step better and organize a youngster's club along similar lines to the knot-hole gangs formed by professional baseball teams. This would develop something concrete and assure the football eleven of a strong following among the city's youth. The plan works successfully in baseball and there is no reason why it cannot be developed in the realm of football. Building up soccer interest among the youngsters will certainly result in more soccer talk in the home and must eventually develop a greater following as the parents succumb to such enthusiastic propaganda.

SPEAKING of the United, I attended a workout of the club this week. If hard work means anything the intensity players will experience a good degree of success this season. Enthusiasm of the team members is high and there was no tendency on anybody's part to slacken off during the hour and a half of training. It was really something to see the veteran Gordie Bell put the boys through their paces. Never once did he ask them to do anything he wasn't willing to execute himself—even when it came to 15 minutes of stop-and-go running.

BELL's attitude towards the training scheme was a revelation to me. As a player Gordie always struck the writer as one of those easy-going fellows who was willing to take things as they came. In charge of the workouts Bell is all seriousness and definitely gains a lot of pleasure whipping the boys into tip-top condition and correcting any minor faults. Chatting to Manager Roy Barnes as he watched the players work I got the impression the entire attitude of the team management has toughened up this season. It's a case of the players getting into condition or else. In other words there will be no drones. The boys in shape are the ones who are going to play. That's the way it should be and the slightest deviation from that stand would be a mistake.

The history of the Victoria Baseball and Athletic Company since its inception three years ago and its financial arrangements were outlined by the speaker.

He extolled the New York Yankees' farm system, of which the local club is a part, and was high in his praise of the Yankees' baseball school held here for three days in August.

COLLEGE GRADUATES

Many players in the league are college graduates and many more are attending college now. Mr. Johnson commented in noting the high type of player in the Class "B" W.I.L.

Joe Devine, head scout for the Pacific coast for the Yankees, was impressed with the fact that the local professional baseball team had started from a community effort, according to the club director.

H. L. Smith, principal of Victoria High School, was in the chair.

Winnipeg Paulins Tour U.S. For Experience

WINNIPEG (CP)—On the assumption a rolling stone does gather a little moss, Al Carlson, youthful mentor of the Manitoba basketball champion Winnipeg Paulins, will take his boys on a month-long jaunt through the United States this winter to give them seasoning.

The way Al sees it, the ability to play consecutive, one-night stands is going to mean the difference when playoff time rolls around next spring.

Paulins came within an ace of upsetting Vancouver's Clover Leafs, winners of the Dominion cage title for the last two years, in a hard-fought, three-game series for the western crown here last spring. And Carlson thinks he has the winning combination in this season's edition.

"With all last year's squad back this season, and with the invaluable experience they gained in the playoffs, we're going to be tough to beat," he says. "I figure it's our year."

WAS WITH TOILERS

Negotiations are still under way

TORONTO (CP)—The Mann Cup, richest prize in Canadian senior lacrosse, went back to Hamilton today after a 15-year absence. It was won by Hamilton Wildcats in exactly the same manner as in 1933—the first year the Ontario city took the trophy.

After the battling Tigers defeated New Westminster Adanacs 12 to 8 last night, old-timers recall the memorable best-of-five series in New Westminster 15 years ago when Tigers spotted the famous Salmonbellies the first two games and then barged through for three straight—just as they did this year.

It was a hard fought — and surprising — series throughout.

Adanacs twisted the tiger tail with an 11 to 6 first game victory and followed with a close 13 to 11 triumph. They had the Tigers confused by their speedy long passing game but the next three it was a different story.

The Hamilton club, older and with more experience, let Adanacs come to them, thumped them with hard body checks and slowed them to "seeing speed."

The younger and speedier Adanacs ran up against a stone wall defence and Hamilton's goal keeper, 24-year-old Doug Flavell who won the Mike Kelly trophy as the outstanding player of the series, smothered blinding drives with uncanny netminding.

While Tigers produced the outstanding player in Flavell, Adanacs, 1947 champions, came up with the high scorer—17-year-old Archie Browning who netted nine. Browning was held off the score sheet last night but he was rated one of the best on the floor with his speed-blazing underhand drives.

His teammate, Sam Kabatow, and Tigers' Blain McDonald and playing coach Joe Cheevers, tied for the second slot amongst marksmen with seven each in the five-game series.

FAILED TO HOLD LEAD

Adanacs appeared to have the cup safely tucked away after a 4 to 0 first quarter lead last night but the crowd of 7,500, which alternately booed and cheered Hamilton, surged to their feet when Tigers showed their claws to outscore the western champions four to one in the second quarter.

The writing was on the wall in the third when they duplicated this scoring margin and from there in the crowd waited for closing game ceremonies when Lyle Barr of Vancouver, president of the Canadian Amateur Lacrosse Association, came on to the floor with the gleaming Mann Cup.

Adanacs shook hands with their victors and trooped dejectedly into their dressing room without waiting to witness the Mike Kelly award to Flavell.

Adanacs had one big reason to hang onto the cup. Before the series they were confident of victory—for Max McDonald who coached them to their 1947 Mann Cup title and who died when his home caught fire in mid-September. They were coached this year by his brother Ken.

SUMMARY
First Quarter—1. New Westminster, Ferguson (Baker), 8:15. 2. New Westminster, Ferguson (R. Douglas), 9:00. 3. New Westminster, Kabatow, 12:00. 4. New Westminster, Popham, 14:50. Penalties: Teachers (major), Cheevers.
Second Quarter—5. Hamilton, Gair, 1:15. 6. Hamilton, Love, 2:40. 7. Hamilton, Masters (McKenzie), 6:05. 8. New Westminster, Severson (Kabatow), 6:50. 9. Hamilton, Love (Masters), 8:10. Penalties: None.
Third Quarter—10. Hamilton, Doyle, 11:11. 11. Hamilton, Cheevers (McDonald), 12:35. 12. New Westminster, Moim, 7:18. 13. Hamilton, McDonald, 12:30. 14. Hamilton, McKenzie, 14:01. Penalties: None.
Fourth Quarter—15. Hamilton, McDonald, 6:00. 16. Hamilton, McKenzie, 6:40. 17. Hamilton, Powers, 7:20. 18. Hamilton, Gair, 8:07. 19. New Westminster, R. Douglas, 10:40. 20. New Westminster, Douglas (Ferguson), 12:30. Penalty: Proctor.

Tom McKeachie To Turn Out For Bays

When J.B.A.A. first-division rugger looks up against the Victoria College entry Saturday afternoon at Macdonald Park a familiar figure will be back in action, wearing their colors.

Veteran Tom McKeachie, well-known local rugger, and one of the stalwarts of Bays' defence in recent years, is reported to have signed up for another campaign and will see action in his regular position at fullback.

Game time is 2.30.

Vic High Clubs Down Oak Bay In Interhigh Soccer

Victoria High's House Three squad in the senior interhigh soccer league consolidated its hold on first place yesterday with a 2 to 1 victory over Oak Bay Greens to mark up its fourth straight triumph.

Allan Marks put winners into the lead shortly before the half. Bruce Madley made it 2 to 0 early in the second, but John McNaughton saved Greens from a shutout, scoring five minutes from full time.

Bill Henderson scored the only goal in the opening minutes of the game between House Two and Oak Bay Whites to make the city lads supreme over both Oak Bay squads in yesterday's matches.

Out at Mount View, the home squad grabbed an early 1 to 0 lead on a goal by Doug Betts, but Mount Douglas High tied it up in the second when Jenkins found the nets.

In the fourth fixture, Esquimalt High and House One battled to a scoreless draw.

Lethbridge Beats Saskatoon To Gain In Prairie Hockey

SASKATOON (CP)—Lethbridge Maple Leafs scored their second victory in four Western Canada Senior Hockey League games Wednesday night when they topped the hapless Saskatoon Quakers, 5 to 3, for the Saskatchewan team's fifth defeat in as many games.

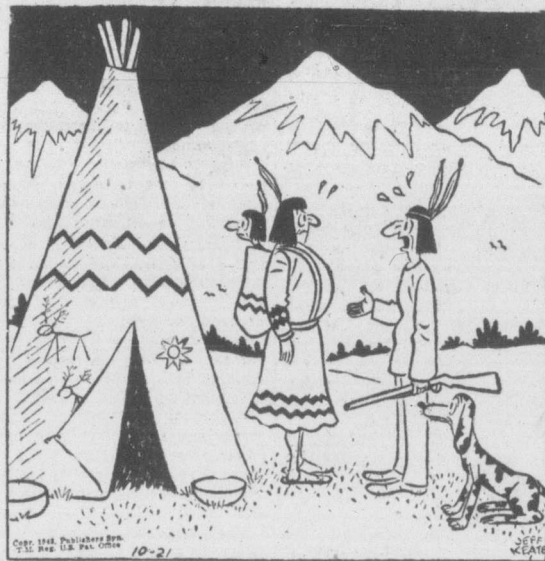

Only bright spot of the game for Quakers, making their first home appearance, was a three-goal performance by Reg Bentley. For Leafs, Don Menzies had two, while Tommy Wood, Gib Nordin and Bill Gibson had singles.

The scoring was confined to the first two periods, with Menzies scoring twice in the opening session and the teams dividing a half-dozen markers in the middle period.

Lethbridge used the victory to go into a first-place tie with Edmonton Flyers and Regina Caps. However, the Leafs have played four games against two for the other two clubs.

Calgary Buffaloes Defeat Lethbridge

CALGARY (CP)—Calgary Buffaloes made an impressive debut in the newly-organized Western Canada Junior Hockey League last night when they knocked off the highly-rated Lethbridge Native Sons, last year's Alberta junior champions.

The victory moved Buffaloes into a first-place tie with Moose Jaw Canucks, who beat Regina Pats 3 to 0 last week. The other two clubs—Bellevue Lions and Medicine Hat Tigers—have not yet seen action.

Buffaloes grabbed a 1 to 0 lead in the first period, matched single counters with last year's Memorial Cup semifinalists in the second frame and poured home three more goals in the third.

Bobby Schmied and John Michaluk were the big guns of the Calgary attack.

Toronto Varsity Wins Track Meet

TORONTO (CP)—A 19-man University of Toronto track and field team successfully defended the Tait Mackenzie Cup, symbolic of senior intercollegiate track and field supremacy, here Wednesday.

Sparked by their dynamic distance runner, 21-year-old George Doull and jumper Johnny Rhamer, each with two firsts, coach Hal Brown's varsity blues piled up 72 points in the 15-event program, placing first in seven of them. They led the 16-man McGill squad by 19 points.

The University of Western Ontario's five-man contingent finished third with 23 points and seven Queen's runners earned 12.

GOLF CO-MEDALISTS

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—Mrs. Mildred (Babe) Dicksen Zaharias and Mary Agnes Walls, Menominee, Wis., each fired a 73, two over men's par, to wind up as co-medalists in the qualifying round of the Hards-Scrabble Country Club women's golf tournament here Wednesday.

Patty Berg, Savage, Minn., had a 75 on the tough 6,440-yard course.

Favored Doubles Team In Defeat

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Dorothy Head of Alameda, Calif., and Armando Vega of Mexico upset the highly favored European team of Mrs. Nelly Landry of France and Jaroslav Drobny of Czechoslovakia Wednesday to win the mixed doubles championship of the Pan-American tennis tournament.

The U.S.-Mexican tandem came from behind to capture the title, 3-6, 7-5, 6-4.

Joe Krol Returns To Argos' Line-up

TORONTO (CP)—Joe Krol will be back in the game Saturday when Toronto Argonauts play Montreal Alouettes in a crucial Big Four football tilt. And he thinks Argos will win—despite the fact that local oddsmakers are quoting 2 to 1 against the Dominion champions.

"I think we're going to catch on fire Saturday," he said last night after a spirited Argo workout. "And if we do, we might beat them by two or three touchdowns."

Tips On Golf Rules

By ROBERT FOULIS

Tip No. 33

'PUT YOUR SHADE ON'

Extract from "Golfing" about an incident that happened on the 18th green at the Lambton Course, Toronto: Ted's approach putt tottered on the brink and was kept from dropping by the narrowest of margins. He walked up to the cup to bat it in, when a weather-beaten Scot who had been watching the players come up to the pin, called out: "Put your shade on!" The player moved across until his shadow fell on the ball. Quickly the ball dropped into the cup.

The Scot explained to the astonished player that the cooling action of screening the sun from the ball made the grass contract beneath the ball and allowed it by sheer weight to drop.

This is a tip well worth trying. Most of us have seen a ball that stopped on the edge of the hole and dropped a few seconds later. This is probably caused by the shadow of the ball. But around noon on a hot summer day with the ball on the north edge of the cup, the shadow of the player will undoubtedly help. Try it some day, but don't wait too long at the hole.

Musical Arts Opening Concert Pleases Capacity Audience

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON
Singing an extensive program that contained much that was interesting and beautiful, Stanley Hoban, baritone, with Grace Hoban at the piano, opened the Victoria Musical Art Society's 1948-49 season, Wednesday night.

The ballroom of the Empress Hotel held a capacity audience which greeted the Toronto artist warmly, and more noticeably after the intermission.

Mr. Hoban has a fine voice for the concert stage; full, with a mellow quality and sonority when he does not muffle it with imperfect vowels. This tendency again, was more pronounced during the first half of the program. Later the timbre steadied and cleared, making the numbers in the second part, with one or two exceptions, more brilliant and colorful, and therefore more enjoyable, than those in the first.

One of the singer's most striking attributes is his sense of phrase; a sense that is securely backed technically by excellent control of breathing. Over and over again, this part of his equipment lifted what might have been a mediocre performance, into the realm of beauty.

The Air from "Comus," Schubert's "To Music" and "Think On Me" were outstanding examples of this.

It may seem an anomaly to say that Mr. Hoban lacked color, and at the same time that he was at his best in more dramatic numbers such as the Respighi "Nebbia" and "The Blacksmith" by Brahms, in which bold dashes of color were necessary. It is not contradictory, however, for what was lacking, was not the more obvious color but the infinite gradations and nuances that make good lively listening of things like the Purcell cycle, "The Lover's Confession." Or perhaps it would be nearer the heart of the matter to say that when Mr. Hoban gets away from the dramatic style he loses his grip on vitality, which a singer can never afford to do.

His justification of English translations of Lieder was questionable for many good reasons, but notwithstanding, this group was certainly one of the most satisfying of the evening. In Schubert's "Hurdy-Gurdy Man" he presented a moving interpretation of the sympathy of mutual wretchedness.

He was again at home in the seldom sung aria, "Il lacerato Boccanegra," and in the traditional group, with "The Bonnie Earl O'Moray" and "Leezie Lindsay." On the other hand, folksongs like "The Pretty Creature" requiring a delicate, tongue-tip technique, do not suit Mr. Hoban's vocal style. "The Cuckoo," of German origin, arranged by Charles Stanford, has an irresistible charm which did not elude the singer, but it is surely unwise to repeat a song simply because the audience liked it. The artistic effect is bound to be one of anti-climax.

Legion Officer Raps Low Pay For Orderlies, Others

Maj. Carl Fallas of the Victoria and District Zone Council of the Canadian Legion, told Esquimalt branch members last night that efforts are being made to have the government of Canada "taken out of the position of paying what amounts to scab wages."

He referred to the low wages paid orderlies at the Victoria Veterans' Hospital and cleaners and helpers at H.M.C.S. Dockyard.

The executive member of the zone said married workers at the dockyard in the low-pay classification only get about $113 a month take-home pay. The hospital orderlies were in a like poor pay category.

He referred to this as scandalous in view of the high cost of living. Maj. Fallas said the provincial command has taken it up with the Dominion command for action.

Maj. Fallas said of renewed efforts to be made to have a Class Six hospital for old soldiers built here, at the coming parley of the Dominion command at Ottawa.

Hon. George S. Pearson, provincial secretary, the speaker said, had informed the E.C. executive that the 40-year age limit for persons entering the B.C. civil service does not apply to veterans.

Venereal Disease On Decline In B.C.

The provincial division of venereal disease control today reported further evidence of the decline in venereal disease incidence in the province.

During the third quarter of the year venereal disease cases reported to the division have totaled 1,042. During the June to September period of 1947 reported venereal disease cases totaled 1,475.

The division, remarking on the 53.6 per cent decrease in syphilis cases, described it as "notable."

Private physicians reported 470 or 45 per cent of venereal disease cases in the third quarter of this year. Clinics reported 516 or 49.5 per cent of the total.

Charles K. Hansen, Prince Robert House, was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary, and Alvin Miller, 619 Duphlin Rd., was given a six-month Oakalla term, when they appeared for sentence before Magistrate H. C. Hall today in city police court for retaining stolen goods.

Both young men earlier pleaded guilty to the charge of retaining 163 cartons of cigarettes which were stolen from Sones' Grocery at 1358 Gladstone Avenue, earlier in the month.

Magistrate Hall delayed imposing sentences until he had had reports from the provincial probation officer. He imposed the heavier sentence on Hansen in view of the fact the accused had just recently completed a two-yearless-one-day term at Oakalla "which apparently did not do you any good."

Wholesalers Pleased With Plan To Allow Import Of U.S. Produce

Victoria and Vancouver wholesalers expressed pleasure today after receiving details of a government plan to ease up on regulations which restrict the import of United States produce into Canada.

"This is certainly a right step in the right direction," one dealer commented. "At least we now know where we are going."

Lettuce, tomatoes and grapes will be the first items to be allowed into this country. The ban on these commodities will be lifted Nov. 1 and wholesalers are already arranging with California produce concerns to have them here on that date.

Prices will be reduced drastically with the removal of the import ban.

20-CENT DROP
Hothouse tomatoes, for instance, now wholesale here at 37½ cents a pound. California tomatoes, wholesalers say, will be at least 20 cents a pound cheaper, making the wholesale price 17½ cents at the most.

The quality of the produce will also be better. Lettuce now on sale is very much inferior to the California lettuce which will be brought in to replace it. Prices will remain unchanged on this commodity, however. Retail price

Seek Exemptions For Some Veterans

Provincial Command of the Canadian Legion has struck a committee to meet B.C. government officials on the matter of exemptions for some veterans under the provincial Hospital Insurance Plan. This deals with 100 per cent pensioners and other veterans, Esquimalt members were told last night.

Driver Gets 1-Year License Suspension
Sidney Albert Hayward, Vancouver resident temporarily residing here, was given a one-year license, suspension and a $25 fine by A. I. Thomas in provincial police court today when he pleaded guilty to a dangerous driving charge.

He also pleaded the same way to having no driver's license and was fined an additional $10 and $2.50 costs.

Accused was driving a motorcycle along the Island Highway late Tuesday night. In addition to having no headlights he failed to stop in response to a police siren, according to the evidence given the court.

Birks' President Says New Store Here Successful

Birks' new Victoria store is doing better than anticipated, Henry G. Birks, president of the company, said here today on his first visit to Victoria since he was here for the store's opening this March.

Asked if he was out on a holiday trip, Mr. Birks answered, "No, I never travel for fun in any city where there is a Birks' house."

Mr. Birks says he has come to western Canada on business at least once a year in the past 26 years, with the exception of one year missed.

He expressed great satisfaction with the success of business here and said the company has already had to considerably increase the staff since the opening.

Mr. Birks also took time out to express his gratitude for the courteous treatment he was afforded by the B.C. trade delegation, headed by Trade and Industry Minister L. H. Eyres which visited the United Kingdom this year. Mr. Birks was invited to accompany the group to the U.K. and he and his wife joined the delegates, returning later with a number of them aboard the Empress of Canada.

Mr. Birks is returning to Vancouver where he will attend the annual meeting of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

Police Help Wanted To Handle 'Ghosts'

"All right, madam, we'll handle them, so don't worry," was the assurance given last night by Sgt. Steve Dunnell to a woman in an agitated state telling him over the telephone about "ghosts peering at her from the window across the street."

The police, of course, did not "handle" the alleged ghosts... because it was the same woman who has been hearing mythical prowlers and burglars in and around her house a number of times in the last few months. Each time her alarms had turned out to be false alarms.

Criticizes Public Attitude Toward Community Chest

Despite the fact Community Chest campaigns have been held annually in Greater Victoria for the past 13 years, many people in this area still do not know what the chest is doing to help persons in need, George Randall, organizer of the present campaign, said today.

"The people of Victoria have developed an entirely wrong attitude toward the chest," he said. "It is a 'let-the-other-fellow-do-it-all' attitude."

"An individual gives $5 or $10 each year to the campaign without bothering to find out what agencies his donation supports or what good work those agencies are doing in the community."

Community Chest work, Mr. Randall said, should be something every man, woman and child in this city should know about, and should take an active interest in.

"Lack of interest is one of our biggest pitfalls," he said.

Both city newspapers, he noted, have carried full-length, half-page ads, explaining the work of the 21 chest-supported agencies and the amount of money each receives from the chest.

"Despite this, our canvassers are continually running into people who say they don't know what the chest is doing."

Generally, however, this year's campaign is being received much better than in previous year, Mr. Randall said. Twelve out of 14 people who never subscribed before are contributing this time, he estimated.

The special names division, under the chairmanship of C. Annett, is alone canvassing more than 1,000 people this year and will produce in excess of $80,000, he said.

Speaking for the chairman of the campaign and other chest officials, Mr. Randall said there remains every reason for confidence that this year's $180,000 objective will be reached.

Wants Downtown Lot

Jack M. Lewers, of the Bluebird Cab Company, 824 Douglas Street, today applied to the city for permission to use property at the northwest corner of Douglas and Humboldt Street for a car parking business and possibly for sale of used cars.

His request will be dealt with by the public works committee. Mr. Lewers said he is operating a used car business on property next to the Strathcona Hotel which he must vacate to allow for construction of an addition to the hotel.

Co-operative Banks Wanted In Canada

Establishment of co-operative banks across Canada is likely in the near future, John Burns told a meeting Wednesday night of the Victoria Chapter of Credit Unions in the Arcade Building auditorium.

The co-operative bank, Mr. Burns said, is a logical step in expanding the co-operative movement. There is a demand for such banks, he added, in all nine of Canada's provinces.

Dave MacDonald, another speaker at the meeting, said the producer movement in Canada had developed far beyond the consumer movement. He advocated action be taken immediately to bring the consumer movement to the forefront.

James Grant, another speaker, outlined the growth of co-operative movements in European countries and declared them the best means of forcing big cartels to reduce their prices.

F. H. Humphrey, president of the Victoria Chapter of Credit Unions, was chairman of the meeting.

SPEAKERS' CLUB MEETING
New members were introduced at the weekly meeting of the Y.M.C.A. Speakers' Club held in a "Y" clubroom Wednesday night.

New members and guests were introduced by Mrs. D. House, president. The various duties for the evening were taken over as follows: Chairman, Mrs. M. Wooding; lecturer, D. House; questioner, L. Westendale; four-minute speech, J. Cummings; impromptu, P. Salisbury; vocabulary, G.

Builders, Carpenters Continue Talks Here; Hearings Postponed

Lloyd G. McKenzie reported today that discussions are continuing between the Builders' Exchange Ltd. and the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, Local 1598, toward settlement of the current wage dispute.

Mr. McKenzie is chairman of a three-man conciliation board set up by the Labor Relations Board to attempt to find a basis for settlement of the dispute which involves 600 carpenters in the Victoria area and a dozen contracting firms.

With the discussions continuing the conciliation board hearings have been further adjourned until 10 next Thursday. The hearing, opened on Monday of this week and was adjourned while the two parties opened negotiation.

The union is seeking a 15-cent an hour across the board wage boost and a union shop clause in its agreement.

Polio Toll For B.C. 97 So Far For Year

The provincial health department today reported 97 poliomyelitis cases had been recorded in the province to date, including six during the past week, one of which was a two-year-old Victoria boy.

The toll of the crippling disease to date this year has been less than one-third of the toll recorded during 1947. The department said that to Oct. 9 last year 284 polio cases had been recorded, including 158 in Vancouver, 17 on Vancouver Island, 12 of which were in Victoria and Oak Bay.

To Oct. 9 this year there had been recorded 91 cases, 10 of which were in Vancouver, nine on Vancouver Island. Three of the Vancouver Island cases were from Victoria and Oak Bay.

This year poliomyelitis has claimed four lives. There had been 12 deaths by October 30 last year.

While the 1948 poliomyelitis toll in B.C. has been far behind that of 1947, in Washington State the reverse has been reported. While 118 cases had been recorded there during 1947 to Oct. 9, up to Oct. 9 this year there have been 229 cases recorded.

Closing By-law To Be Discussed

LAKE COWICHAN—The executive of the Chamber of Commerce here decided at a meeting Tuesday night to sponsor a general meeting of retail businessmen to discuss a closing by-law.

Two briefs from the Nanaimo Board of Trade were read and discussed. One brief, in connection with the power of the Public Utilities Commission of B.C. to refuse licenses under the Motor Carriers Act, was endorsed by the Lake Cowichan chamber, which supported wholeheartedly free enterprise and disapproved of refusal of licenses without specific reason. Another brief, dealing with the Municipality Act, was tabled for further discussion.

A letter from the National Auto Club, asking for information as to the number of hotels, motels and tourist cabins in the district, will be answered by the secretary.

Loads Food Cargo For British Isles

PORT ALBERNI — Ss. Loch Garth will carry over 12,500,000 fresh B.C. eggs and 300 tons of Guatemala beef for hungry Britons on her next voyage overseas. Other items in her cargo will include 4,000 tons of wheat, 1,000 tons of pulp and 1,500,000 feet of lumber.

The vessel is a R.M.S. ship that can carry 12 passengers. It travels at 16 knots with a reserve of four knots of speed. The vessel is equipped with refrigeration for large cargoes of fruit and perishables.

The beef is bought under contract to the British government. Wheat was loaded at Vancouver, eggs at Vancouver and New Westminster, pulp at Port Alberni. The vessel sailed Wednesday to complete loading at Vancouver, Crofton and other mainland points. Passengers will be picked up at Vancouver and the voyage to England is expected to take 28 days.

Says Liberals, C.C.F. Adopt Same Guide

SASKATOON (CP)—Dr. J. N. Haldeman, Saskatchewan Social Credit leader, speaking Wednesday night at Young, Sask., charged the Liberal government at Ottawa was guided by the London School of Economics, the same authority, he explained, that guided the C.C.F.

"Every one of the 10 points set out by Karl Marx has been included in the Liberal platform," he said. "Their income tax policies are taken from the number two plank of Marx's manifesto."

Social Credit philosophy was based on "inducement rather than compulsion," he continued.

Drew Says U.N. Must Solve Berlin Issue

NEW YORK (CP)—The Russian blockade of Berlin "raises basic issues between the great powers which must be settled . . . by the United Nations," George Drew said here Wednesday night. The new leader of the Progressive Conservative Party of Canada was one of the speakers at the closing session of the New York Herald Tribune forum.

In his 15-minute speech on "The Record of the United Nations," Drew emphasized the Berlin problem.

"Now that such a serious but very clear issue has been placed before the United Nations, its solution must be the collective act of that organization unless Russia removes the cause," he declared.

Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York, Republican candidate for the United States Presidency, and J. Howard McGrath, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, were other speakers. General theme of the session was "Goals for Leadership in the World Crisis."

Dewey declared the United States must act decisively "to make the free nations more powerful than the forces making for war."

Romanians Protest London Columnist's Poem On Ana Pauker

LONDON (Reuter) — Mihail Macavet, Romanian minister in London, called at the foreign office Wednesday and protested against references to Madame Ana Pauker, Romanian foreign minister, made by columnist Nathaniel Gubbins in London Sunday Express.

In his column, "Sitting on the Fence," Oct. 10 Gubbins included a poem which read in part: At parties Ana eats a lot (What a charming manner) With other comrades sip and plot. Ana, chewing something hot, Has a plotting comrade shot, Teaching him to pan her.

Ana, unkind comrades say, Is richer than a boyar Apart from ministerial pay.

Ana has the yea or nay Of life and death from day to day Of comrades who annoy her. Comrades aping bourgeoisie Must be liquidated, see? Ana takes their dough-roy-me, Oh, boy, oh boy, oh boyar.

(A boyar is a rich peasant.) In a letter to the editor in the Oct. 17 Sunday Express, Paul Cornea of the Romanian legation expressed indignation at Gubbins' "despicable insolence."

Wider Libel Defence Basis Recommended

LONDON (AP) — A government committee said tonight a defence of truth should beat a libel suit even if the offending statement is proved true only in part.

A person sued for libel in England can win by proving what he wrote was true, but the committee said the scope of this defence has become too narrow and should be broadened.

So it recommended that such a person be able to win by proving a "substantial" part of the offending allegations to be the truth.

The extent of this part, it said, should be such that any remaining unproved allegations "do not add materially to the injury of the plaintiff's reputation."

Another recommendation "is that anybody who accepts a correction or apology for mistaken identity or other 'unintentional libel' should be barred from bringing suit later."

The committee of 18 lawyers, publishers, journalists and others was set up by the Lord Chancellor, Britain's highest legal officer, in 1939 and is just publishing its report for parliament.

To Develop Park

LAKE COWICHAN — The monthly meeting of United Organizations, with Ralph Codrey, president, in the chair, dispensed with business on hand, in short order, clearing up final reports on the Labor Day sports, and a report on work planned by the government. United Organizations representatives, village commissioners and members from B.P.O. Elks went over the site last week.

It was reported that a work party is planned to clear the brush on the river front, and a shovel and couple of trucks will be obtained to blaze a road and make a 200-foot fill on the property. This will be about all that can be accomplished this year. Money, recently voted for the project, will be spent at the discretion of the executive.

Jane's Says Russia Adding 100 Subs To 250 In Fleet

LONDON (AP)—"Jane's Fighting Ships," authority publication of the world's navies, reports Russia has about 250 submarines in service and "fully 100 more" under construction.

"It is evident, therefore, that Russia, like Germany, is inclined to rely chiefly on the submarine as a naval weapon," says the foreword to the 5th edition of Jane's published today.

The publication says the "total strength of this (Soviet) fleet has been substantially increased" but that former German, Japanese and Italian warships figure conspicuously in the additions.

"Some wrecks which would not seem to have been worth the cost of salvaging have been resuscitated, apparently with the idea that nothing must be wasted if it can possibly be utilized," says Jane's.

Actress-Novelist, Elissa Landi, Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Elissa Landi, 43-year-old screen actress and novelist, died early today at nearby Kingston, N.Y., of cancer.

The Italian-born actress had been in Kingston Hospital for the last 10 days with what previously was described only as a "chronic condition." Dr. Kenneth Lefever said the actress "never knew she had cancer." Her condition, however, had been known to her family for nine months, he said.

Miss Landi was an artist of multiple facets, successful as a motion picture and stage star, as a novelist, as a linguist, as a pianist and as a singer. Her varied talents, combined with a subtle blonde beauty, won her international praise from both dramatic and literary critics.

She was born Dec. 6, 1904, in Venice, Italy, the daughter of Austrian Count and Countess Zanardi-Landi.

She was reported to have been the granddaughter of Empress Elizabeth of Austria, but with a reticence rare in actresses she always refused to confirm or deny her royal ancestry.

She retired from the stage and screen four years ago and had spent her time writing on her 123-acre farm, "Bright Acres," near Kingston, N.Y.

Surviving her, besides her husband, are a daughter, Caroline Maude Landi Thomas, born in 1944; her father, Count Charles Zanardi-Landi; and a brother, Anthony, Hollywood.

Miss Landi began her theatrical career with a stock company in Oxford, England, at the age of 19. Only three years after her debut in 1923 she appeared in the leading feminine role in "Kismet" in London.

She made her first U.S. film in the Hollywood production of "Body and Soul." She followed this with leading roles in "The Sign of the Cross," "The Warrior's Husband," "The Count of Monte Cristo," and other films.

In the United States she had the following novels published: "House for Sale" in 1932, "The Ancestor" in 1934, "Women and Peter" in 1941 and "The Pear Tree" in 1945.

ERECT CAIRN—Known far and wide as "Cap'n Bob," Robert Abram Bartlett, Newfoundland-born seafarer who gained fame as an explorer and navigator in Arctic waters, died in 1946. Recently, the residents of his native town of Brigus on Conception Bay, Newfoundland, erected a cairn in his memory. It was from Conception Bay that "Cap'n Bob" sailed on most of his expeditions into the north for the U.S. government. Shown unveiling the cairn is James Dooling, one of the crew who sailed under Bartlett. Bartlett was commander of the ill-fated steamer Karluk, which sailed from Esquimalt in 1913 with the Stefansson expedition.—(CP Photo)

Court Test Nov. 16 On Rent Controls

TORONTO (CP)—Validity of federal rental orders and controls will be tested in a court case at nearby Milton Nov. 16.

The Halton County Court will hear an appeal by Joseph Adams against his conviction last July for charging a higher rent for a Burlington, Ont., property than that fixed by the Prices Board rentals division. Adams was fined $500 and costs.

Robert A. Reid, counsel for Adams, said this is the first time a court had been asked to decide whether the rental regulations are legally valid.

"This is entirely a provincial matter of property and civil rights, either in war or peace-time," he said. "According to very recent Privy Council decisions, the Dominion Parliament or government has no jurisdiction or authority in the matter."

Adams claims in his grounds of appeal that neither the Prices Board nor any of its rental board officials has had any legal power or authority at any time to fix the rent of any house owner, landlord or tenant in Canada.

The Absent-Minded "Confessor"

I THOT it would be a good idea if I put some doors on the garage for this winter, as it sorta helps to keep the windshield from getting all misted up in the nite, and besides, too, it makes for easier starting, as well as a lot of other things, I guess, as most people seem to have doors on their garages, so I got me some tongue 'n' groove, and I dunno if you've ever built any garage doors, and nailed long cross-pieces for support, and tried to cut these all at the right angles, and then had all the tongues fall out, just as you're heaving the whole thing up to mark where you should have put on the hinges, and then doing it all over again, only to have the saw-horse flop over and all the grooves come apart again, and others slip down so the fool thing looks like a picket fence or sumptin', and then when you've got it back in place and a piece of wood under for support and so's it will swing freely, and then you've nailed it there just to hold till you've got the other one in a similar position, and then to have it get dark and your G.F. call you in to dinner, and then keep hollering at you that the roast is shrivelling smaller than ever, and then you trip over the saw-horse, and go out the side door, and go in & eat what's left of the dinner, and then have YOUR G.F. say to you that if you don't go up to the store there won't be any toast for breakfast, and so after your coffee you go back up to the garage again, back thru that same side door, get in the car, turn on the light, throw 'er into reverse, and as I started in to say, I don't know if you've ever done these things or built any garage doors, and then did as I did, and completely forgot you'd temporarily nailed them there, till you had more time to complete the job and attach the hinges, but I hope if you have, you won't be so absent minded as I was (almost as bad as that professor who scratched his pansakes & then poured the syrup down his back), because, as I say, I threw 'er in reverse, stepped on the gas, and backed right thru my lovely new doors.

Many Opportunities For Today's Youth

"There are as many opportunities for youth today as there ever have been, if not more," C. Milton Morris of Denver, Colo., president of Optimist International, told members of Victoria Optimist Club Wednesday night at the Oak Bay Beach Hotel.

"The trouble is," he said, "the young people don't seem to see that the opportunities are there." The Optimist chief called on members of the Victoria club to teach the youths of this city to be dependent upon themselves.

"They are inclined to think they can get things without working for them," he said. "Their doctrine seems to be 'gimme' rather than 'give'."

Attending the meeting, in addition to club members, were Mayor Percy George, A. McLintock of Vancouver, district governor, and A. S. Barker, president of the Vancouver Optimist Club.

Police Chief To Seek Extension Beyond Age Limit

When the Victoria Board of Police Commissioners meet next month, one of the items on the agenda will probably be an application by Chief of Police John A. McLellan for an extension of service beyond his retirement age.

The chief, who recently returned to duty after recovering from serious injuries sustained last December by a falling fire ladder, reaches retirement age in December.

Chief McLellan is understood to have already applied for an extension verbally and has been advised to put his request in writing to the commission. This would have to be finally approved by the City Council.

Some time ago similar requests by high officials of the city fire department were turned down by the council.

The commission, which has only one more meeting before the chief's retirement date, for several months has not dealt with the matter of choosing a man to take over from Chief McLellan or the appointment of a deputy chief.

Inspectors John Blackstock and Harry Mercer are the two who have been mentioned in connection with the promotions. Insp. Mercer is chief of detectives and Insp. Blackstock took over the position of acting-chief while Chief McLellan was recovering.

'Best Years' Now Showing At York

Gregg Toland, chief cameraman on Samuel Goldwyn's "The Best Years of Our Lives," is of the firm conviction that the monopoly on technical proficiency in the production of pictures, once Hollywood's greatest pride, is a thing of the past. The Academy Award winning cinematographer bases his belief on his recent experiences in London where he spent four weeks shooting authentic backgrounds for Goldwyn's forthcoming "Take Three Tenses."

In working on this new picture, Toland used the same camera techniques he applied so effectively in "The Best Years of Our Lives," an RKO release which begins its run at the York Theatre today.

ROYAL THEATRE

Kay Nelson, one of Hollywood's top designers, is currently receiving accolades for a radical innovation in wardrobe practice in her work on the costumes for Linda Darnell, Anne Baxter and other actresses in Twentieth Century-Fox's "The Walls of Jericho," which is now at the Royal Theatre. For the film, Mill Nelson used only black, white and grey graduations in her costumes, thus solving a problem that has plagued film makers for a long time.

In the past, designers for black-and-white pictures never knew exactly how their color creations would look on the screen. Occasionally, a blue, a dark orange and a red costume in the same scene would film in the same tone of grey, much to the consternation of the director. Miss Nelson's costumes, lavish and striking in design, assured perfect color control.

ODEON THEATRE

Charles Bickford is superstitious about the number 13. He insists it is lucky—for him.

It was on a Friday, the thirteenth, that he got his first stage offer—with a burlesque company in San Francisco. It was 13 years later, almost to the day, that he obtained his first role on Broadway. And it was in 1930 (the figures add up to 13) that he started his screen career—in "Dynamite," a great success.

Bickford, William Bendix and Claire Trevor are starred in Roy Del Ruth's Allied Artists production, "The Babe Ruth Story," which is now at the Odeon Theatre. In the featured cast of the film are Sam Levene, Matt Briggs, Gertrude Niesen and William Frawley.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Errol Flynn and Tom D'Andrea were looking like two very small boys caught playing with matches, which was exactly the way director Raoul Walsh wanted them to look.

They had, as Union soldiers in Warner Bros.' smashing "Silver River," which is currently at the Capitol Theatre, just burned a covered wagon containing $1,000,000 in currency destined to pay their fellow soldiers at Gettysburg. The set was the rolling country of Providencia Ranch, and they were being taxed by superior officers with their profane action.

Jungle Mysteries Now Open Book

The mysterious jungle of the Congo, in the fastnesses of which dwell dwarf humans and antelopes no larger than dogs, as well as gorillas seven feet tall and weighing 500 pounds, have given up their secrets to the camera and microphone in the Morro release production, "Congorilla," which is now playing at the Rio Theatre.

Carnival Acts Perform In Film

Universal-International engaged a group of carnival acts for tent show sequences in "Are You With It?" which opens today at the Plaza Theatre.

Among the performers to be seen in the film are Charles and Phyllis Kirkham in a magic act, Rouben Castang and his chimpanzee, and Maurice Navarre, also served as technical advisor when Donald O'Connor did a fire-eating routine.

O'Connor's co-stars in "Are You With It?" are Olga San Juan, Martha Stewart and Lew Parker. Jack Hively directed. The picture is based upon the mirthpacked Broadway musical comedy.

'Swordsman' Filmed In Exciting Color

Columbia's "The Swordsman," romantic adventure of the Scottish Highlands filmed in all the glory of Technicolor, opens an engagement at the Oak Bay Theatre today. Larry Parks is starred, while Ellen Drew has the feminine lead. Principal supporting players include George Macready, Edgar Buchanan, Ray Collins and Marc Platt. Wilfrid H. Pott's original screenplay has been directed by Joseph H. Lewis. Burt Kelly produced.

ATLAS THEATRE

Robert Hutton, who stars with Joyce Reynolds and Janis Paige in Warner Bros. "Wallflower," now at the Atlas Theatre, named himself the first day he went to work as a young actor in Hollywood. His real name is Winnie; but Hutton was his mother's maiden name and it appealed to him as a good screen label.

The young actor was born in Kingston, N.Y., and attended the Blair Academy in New Jersey, where he won some attention with his ability at tennis, track events, wrestling and hockey as well as in amateur theatricals, which started him on the road to Hollywood.

Favor Investigation Of Four Frenchmen

Esquimalt Branch of the Canadian Legion at its meeting Wednesday night endorsed the action of the Provincial Command of the Legion in asking for a full government investigation about the four Frenchmen alleged to have been Nazi collaborators who have been permitted to stay in Canada.

B.C. Bond Drive Subscriptions Higher Than Previous Loans

British Columbia's average bond subscription in the third series Canada Savings Loan is above the national average. According to figures from Ottawa in the first tabulation in this loan, the average subscription is $197 or $4 higher than the average at this time in series two. British Columbia's average bond purchase is $277.

Through the savings plan $15,380,100 has been signed on up until Tuesday. This is an increase of $3,000,000 over the last loan at the same time. Employees in payroll companies buying bonds total 78,007, an increase of more than 11,000 over the number of subscribers at this time last October.

National highlights of early returns show that railway employees with nearly $2,000,000 purchases have almost doubled subscriptions. Civil service employees have increased purchases by nearly $500,000, with sales to date totaling $1,068,850.

INCREASES EVERYWHERE

Despite the fact that a number of B.C. payroll companies did not start canvassing until this week, most returns to date show increases. Canadian Pacific Airlines started on Oct. 18 and have already exceeded entire total of last loan.

Victoria Lumber Company at Chemainus now has 30 per cent employee participation totaling $40,000 against a 15 per cent participation for $27,000 in the last offering. B.C. Pulp & Paper at Port Alice has already exceeded its total of last loan with 240 applications. Total $58,000. This is a 55 per cent employee participation against 38 per cent participation last year.

Burrard Drydocks of North Vancouver, with a 35 per cent employee participation, have signed on for $125,000. Last loan subscriptions at this time totaled $100,000 and participation was 20 per cent.

Health Officer Returns To R.C.A.F.

Dr. J. H. Preston, assistant medical health officer for Victoria and Esquimalt, is resigning his position to re-enlist in the R.C.A.F. Announcement of his resignation was made by Dr. J. L. Gayton, medical health officer, who expressed regret that Dr. Preston is leaving.

Dr. Preston became assistant M.H.O. in June last year. He came here from Manitoba where he was a health unit director for the government of that province.

He served in the R.A.F. for eight years, and then transferred to the R.C.A.F. near the end of the war.

Dr. Preston is an Ottawa man. His resignation is set for Nov. 19.

PILES

Every day we receive letters from former sufferers, who had given up hope, grateful for the new Pylone Treatment, many after years of misery. Have you ever thought how modern science has advanced. Pylone is a result of that advancement.
Pylone Pile Treatment goes direct to the trouble source (internal). The taste of this liquid may be disagreeable but results are what you want. You get results with the first bottle of Pylone or your money refunded. At all modern druggists.

Skin Eruptions

Here is a clean, stainless, penetrating antiseptic oil that brings speedy relief from the itching and discomfort.
Not only does this healing antiseptic oil promote rapid and healthy healing in open sores and wounds but boils and simple ulcers are also relieved.
In skin affections the itching of Eczema is quickly stopped. Pimples—skin eruptions dry up and scale off in a very few days.
The same is true of Barber's Itch, Salt Rheum, Itching Toes and Feet and other inflammatory skin disorders.
You can obtain Moore's Emerald Oil in the original bottle at David Spencer's Ltd. or any modern drug store. Satisfaction or money back.

Ultrafax Given First Public Demonstration

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ultra-fax technicians gave themselves just two minutes today to copy and deliver to the United States
Library of Congress every one of the 1,047 pages in "Gone
With the Wind."

For the future, David Sarnoff, president of the Radio Corporation of America, foresaw:
Letters flashing across the country at the speed of lightning.

Military intelligence pouring as many words into headquarters in a single minute as wartime communications systems could handle in 24 hours.

Sarnoff made these predictions in an address at the first public demonstration of ultrafax—a new communications system that combines television, radio-relays and high-speed photography.

SEEN AS MILESTONE
Sarnoff termed ultrafax "as significant a milestone in the field of communications as was the splitting of the atom in the world of energy."

Ultrafax, developed by R.C.A.'s laboratories in co-operation with the Eastman Kodak Company and the National Broadcasting Company, is described as working this way:
Material to be transmitted is
"scanned" by a special television camera which transmits it at the rate of 30 pictures a second.
On the receiving end, an apparatus translates the televised signals into impulses of light that are recorded on motion picture film or photographic paper.

A war-developed system of high-speed film processing is used to deliver a single frame ready for printing or projecting in 45 seconds.

R.C.A. said the transmissions could be relayed any distance across the country by using commercial radio relay towers being erected for a country-wide television network.

"In the busiest days of the war, the signal centre at the Pentagon Building handled as many as 10,000,000 words in 24 hours."

"With ultrafax, this load could be handled in 10 minutes from one transmitter, and in one minute using 10 transmitters."

FOR NEWSPAPERS

Sarnoff also envisioned:
1. Instantaneous transmission and reception of complete editions of newspapers into every home equipped with a television set and ultrafax attachments.
(No cost estimate was given.)
2. A "radio-mail" system by which mail would be "broadcast" and processed by ultrafax, and then picked up by post office employees at receiving points.
3. The transmission of a full-length motion picture from a single negative in the production studio simultaneously to the screens of thousands of motion picture theatres throughout the United States and Canada.

"Indeed," said Sarnoff, "so many political and social problems are raised by these and other recent scientific developments that a new national communications policy should be considered and established by Congress."

Coalition Names

Trail By-Election

TRAIL (CP)—A. D. Turnbull of Trail is the Coalition candidate in the forthcoming by-election in the Rossland-Trail riding being held to choose a successor to the late James L. Webster.

A packed hall of 100 Progressive Conservative and Liberal delegates and interested spectators Wednesday night saw Mr.
Turnbull defeat the other nominees, S. C. Stewart, Trail, and Mayor J. R. Corner of Rossland.

Mayor Corner's nomination caused a flurry of excitement in the convention hall as delegates were prepared only for a two-way fight. The outspoken chief magistrate from nearby Rossland declared himself "a coalitionist," but disclaimed membership in either political party.
